Borough/Township Consolidation Once Again on Princeton's Agenda

In the spirit of what the future might bring, the Borough Mayor asked the Borough attorney to check with the Township before preparing an ordinance that would ask Princeton voters if they wanted to form a commission to study consolidation. "Let's start off with one ordinance," said Mayor Marvin Reed at last week's meeting of Borough Council.

The public will have an opportunity to speak to the subject at the ordinance's introduction and the public hearing that will follow. These dates have not yet been set.

Council agreed to the preparation of the ordinance after an informal presentation by Van Zandt Williams, a Borough resident and a member of the Princeton Citizens Committee for the Study of Consolidation.

"I ask that the question be studied again," he said. "I sense already that consolidation is seen by all people on the outside. Government operations are already moving to consolidation. Land use requirements argue for consolidation. I believe the fiscal impact will at worst be neutral."

He asked, "If we were already one, could we think of reasons to divide ourselves?"

The last time consolidation came before the voters was in 1979. It was approved by the Township, but rejected by the Borough.

The ordinance would place on the November ballot the question of whether to set up a consolidation study commission. If the study commission approves a merger, the question of whether to consolidate Princeton Borough and Princeton Township would appear on the November, 1992, ballot.

"I represent Dollars and Cents, a committee which opposes change and is for the status quo," said Mila Gibbons Gardner after Mr. Williams' comments. "I attended all meetings of the Consolidation Commission in 1979, and they were biased. Not all the members were fairly chosen. There is another example of unfairness tonight. There was not time for us to come in as a group.

"This type of thing went on last time, and the time before," she added. "I protest the way this has been done tonight."

Council also decided to have the Borough attorney prepare a "dog-scooper" ordinance along the lines of a

Neil Rudenstine Picked To Become 26th Head Of Harvard University

Former Princeton University Provost Neil L. Rudenstine will become the 26th president of Harvard, succeeding Derek C. Bok, who will step down at the end of June after 20 years in the post.

The news that Dr. Rudenstine was the likely choice following an intensive 10-month search found its way into the press on Friday, and the Harvard Board of Overseers was convened in special session over the weekend as Dr. Rudenstine flew to Cambridge to decide whether or not to accept the post. The announcement was made on Sunday.

In a prepared statement, Dr. Bok said, "I could not be more delighted with the choice of Neil Rudenstine as the next president of Harvard. I cannot think of a candidate so well-endowed with the knowledge, experience, temperament and character needed to serve as Harvard's president."

Dr. Rudenstine, a resident of Stockton Street, is currently serving as executive vice president of the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation in New

Hilton Realty Asks Planning Board To Allow More Cars to Park in Lot

The difficulty Nassau Street employers face in finding adequate and convenient parking for their employees is the issue in a proposal that will come before the Planning Board on Tuesday as a concept plan.

George H. Sands and Jeffrey Sands of Hilton Realty Co., owners of the office building at 194 Nassau Street, are seeking permission to modify the parking behind their building to allow stacking of cars two deep. They also want to reduce the existing aisle width and the size of the proposed parking space.

The purpose is to allow additional parking for employees of Hilton Realty and for the employees of tenants of the building. The plan would allow 23 cars to be parked in the rather small lot directly behind the building. Access is from Moore Street.

According to a memo to the Planning Board from Borough Engineer Carl Peters, stacked parking has been occuring in this lot in violation of previously approved parking plans. A notice was sent to the Sands telling them this illegal practice would have to stop and that the proper recourse is to seek a modification of the parking plan.

The lot is bordered by residences on Park Place to the north, a municipal metered parking lot to the west, and more municipal metered parking to the east behind professional and retail shops on Moore Street. According to Mr. Peters, the parking area in question was constructed by the Borough in 1964 as a municipal parking yard. Construction included the parking area as well as lighting and drainage improvements.

Cuts in School Budget Will Mean Hard Choices

Whether some critical questions will be answered at the School Board meeting scheduled for Tuesday evening, March 26, was still unclear late Tuesday afternoon.

The questions include,

- Whether the teachers' union will accede to the School Board's request — hand-delivered Friday afternoon to Princeton Regional Education Association head Ann Johnston — to renegotiate the teachers' contract. Now entering its second year, the three-year contract provides an average salary increase of 9.3 percent.

- A sense of the number of positions that might be dropped from the high school. About 15 teaching positions will need to be cut this year as the administration seeks to decrease the

Parking

The yard was leased to the Borough for $1 a year for 20 years, along with tax abatements for the owners (Hilton Realty) for the area of the lot. Hilton Realty was also granted access to the yard across Borough properties from Moore Street.

The lease expired in 1984 and has not been renewed. Notes Mr. Peters, "Gradually the owner has rescinded all rights for the Borough to maintain metered spaces on the property but has continued to enjoy the improvements installed by the Borough and the rights of access to Moore Street without charge."

Mr. Peters states flatly: "I do not favor the [stacking] plan that has been submitted. Stacking of cars without aisles is seen in urban areas, especially in attended lots. Is that type of parking advisable for Princeton?

"If this approval is granted, will more requests follow?" Mr. Peters continues. "Certainly there are many employers with similar long term parking requirements. How does this request fit in with other parking uses in this block?" He adds that to improve circulation, it would be "beneficial" to connect the two parking areas so that both lots have access to Moore Street and Park Place.

In a letter accompanying the application, Henry N. Portner, attorney for Hilton Realty in this matter, writes of the difficult time employers in the building have finding parking spaces for their employees.

"The area is surrounded by parking meters of very limited time duration," Mr. Portner notes, "and residential areas which specifically prohibit and limit parking other than to the immediate residential area. My clients' employees and their tenants' employees have no place to park in the immediate vicinity, or in reality, not even within walking distance."

In her report, Eileen Banyra, the Planning Board's professional planner, says, "It is apparent that this lot as it exists cannot adequately address the parking that is required for the site...It would be my assumption that the adjacent property parking, metered street or municipal parking was probably always envisioned" [as parking for the building occupants].

She suggests that cooperative parking arrangements between this property and the adjacent property as well as use of the municipal parking lot or the metered street parking be used to a greater extent than it is currently. "It is apparent to me that no matter what is done on this property, whether it be a reduction in stall size or if we reduce aisle width to grant a few more spaces, that lot is too undersized for the uses currently exhibited in that building."

Other Business

In other business, the Planning Board will also review the proposed intersection improvements at Route 206 and Cherry Hill Road, including a proposed traffic light at the intersection of Valley Road and Witherspoon Street.

The board will also be asked to give final subdivision approval for dividing an 88-acre parcel of former Princeton Day School land into two lots. One lot, of 72 acres, is proposed to be developed by a partnership that includes the Hillier Group into 31 single family homes and 14 townhouses in four manor home structures. Parts of this lot are along Pretty Brook Road.

The other lot, near the Princeton Day School campus, would consist of 16½ acres on which the school would construct faculty housing. The original application received preliminary subdivision and site plan approval in December, 1988. The request at this time is for final subdivision approval so that Pond View Associates, as the partnership is called, can formally convey the 16½ acres to PDS, and the school can proceed with the faculty housing on its own.

Final site plan approval for either of the two lots is required before construction.

Borough Sets Tax Rate

The 1991 municipal tax rate in the Borough will be 82 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. This a 3.8 percent increase over the 1990 rate of 79 cents.

Under the new rate, the owner of a property assessed at $100,000 will pay a municipal tax of $820 — $30 more than last year. A property assessed at $150,000 will be taxed $1,240 — $45 more than last year.

The total 1991 Borough property tax was estimated at $3.72 by Borough Administrator Mark Gordon, a six percent increase over last year's figure of $3.51.

Mr. Gordon said he anticipates that the County tax will remain the same — $1.13 — and the school tax will rise from $1.59 to $1.75.

In addition, Borough taxpayers will pay two cents per $100 of assessed valuation for open space acquisition. This results from the passage in 1989 of an open space acquisition referendum.

The Borough budget is expected to be introduced at the April 4 Council meeting.

Stranded Seniors Seek Help from the Borough

March 28 is the last day the County will provide a driver for the van that furnishes needed transportation for many of Princeton's elderly and handicapped residents. This is the day the TRADE funding will end. TRADE monies paid driver, fuel, maintenance and insurance costs for the van, which serves residents of Elm Court, Spruce Circle, and the Clay Street housing.

"Eighteen people at Elm Court now use the van all the time. They have no access to transportation," Elm Court manager Lucy James told Mayor and Council at last week's meeting of Borough Council. "We can't leave them stranded."

She asked Council if the Borough could help with some of the van's expenses, including insurance, gas, oil, and maintenance. A maintenance man at Elm Court, she said, has been able to do some driving, but the four loops the van used to do each weekday will be severely curtailed.

Ms. James and others are working on putting together a coordinated townwide transportation system for the elderly and handicapped. She has been speaking to several groups that provide this service, including the Princeton area chapter of the Red Cross and Crosstown 62. "But we can't have this by March 28," she said. "Bear with us while we come up with a solution to the problem."

Crosstown 62, which is funded by the Borough and Township, is a door-to-door, call-in-advance service which, for a small fee, transports the elderly and handicapped to locations within the two towns.

"We are putting over $50,000 a year into Crosstown 62," said Mayor Marvin Reed. "It has been a long time since this has been reviewed. With that level of investment, does $50,000 produce the right level of transportation? Could we have scheduled service, on-demand service, and also a subsidized taxi service? I think the municipalities should look at everything, but we can't do this in one week's time."

Members of the governing body supported Councilwoman Jane Terpstra's recommendation that the Borough enter into an agreement to lease the Elm Court van for one dollar so it could establish an insurable interest, and then place the van on the Borough's policy.

Borough Administrator Mark Gordon will look into the feasibility of this.

Council also set up a subcommittee — consisting of Ms. Terpstra, Mildred Trotman, and Mark Freda — to meet with interested parties and discuss the elements that should be included in a transportation program for seniors and the handicapped. Among those they plan to meet with are representatives of Princeton Community Housing, the Township, and the Red Cross.

Right now, Elm Court is seeking volunteer drivers for the van. For more information, or to volunteer, call Lucy James at 497-1479.

During the recent Persian Gulf crisis, Mr. Ozal was an ardent supporter of the U.S.-led coalition against Iraq. The eighth president of the Turkish republic, he holds a 1950 master's degree in electrical engineering from the Istanbul Technical University. As deputy director of the state electrical authority, he participated in planning for the electrification of Turkey. As undersecretary of the state planning organization from 1967 to 1971, he was responsible for the development of the Turkish economy, and from 1971 to 1973 he worked as an advisor to the World Bank.

Mr. Ozal became undersecretary to the Turkish prime minister in 1979 and served as deputy prime minister for economic affairs from 1980 to 1982. The next year he established the Motherland Party and became the 19th prime minister of Turkey after winning a majority in that year's general elections. He was elected president by the nation's parliament in 1989.

Multiple Charges Follow Motor Vehicle Violation

It was a bad time to pass on the right.

Stopped late Friday night for passing cars on the right on Nassau Street near University Place, Byron Barillas, 23, 274 Witherspoon Street, was hit with a number of subsequent charges after he was arrested on Birch Avenue.

Barillas was charged with driving while intoxicated, careless driving, improper passing, driving while his license and registration were suspended, using fictitious plates, no insurance and unregistered vehicle. In addition, he was charged with attempting to elude police. He faces an April 1 appearance in Borough court.

When Ptl. Michael Bender and Ptl. Daniel Brown initially signaled Barillas to pull over around 11:35, he attempted to escape down Chambers Street. He then turned on to Paul Robeson Place, to John Street and on to Birch Avenue, where he pulled into a private driveway. He was apprehended immediately by the two officers who were backed up by the arrival of a second patrol car occupied by Ptl. Curtis Vanchoff and Sgt. William Clark.

Borough Man Charged: Had Stolen Property

Kim Craig, 37, of Margerum Court, charged by Township police with possession of stolen property, was scheduled to appear in Township court this week.

When apprehended Friday afternoon by University proctors on railway tracks leading from the New South Building toward Faculty Road, Craig had in his possession a Walkman, two calculators and an 18-inch-square safe containing personal papers. An investigation revealed that the items had allegedly been stolen from a room in Walker Hall on campus.

Police were called around 3 to aid in the apprehension of a suspect who was believed to be carrying a TV monitor. The monitor later turned out to be the small, gray fireproof safe. Before police arrived, proctors located the suspect and had him in custody at Stanhope Hall.

Ptl. Williams Potts signed the possession charge.

Mink Jacket Is Stolen; Recovered the Next Day

The $4,500 mink jacket of a Pottstown, Pa. resident visiting Prospect House on the Princeton University campus was stolen Saturday afternoon and recovered the next day.

Police report the victim had left her jacket unattended in a room while attending a function at Prospect House. She discovered it missing at 5:15. It was recovered the next day, undamaged, outside the building lying on a piece of concrete underneath an overhang. It was returned to the owner.

$833 in Items Charged To Stolen Credit Card

A 23-year-old Hamilton Square resident did not realize someone had used her Visa credit card until she got a bill Friday for items she did not buy.

According to Capt. Peter Hanley, the victim had left her card at the YM-YWCA in Princeton on March 7 and returned to pick it up a week later. During that time it appears, Capt. Hanley said, that a number of items valued at $833 were charged to her card at different locations, including

Grand Jury to Review Charges

The assault and resisting arrest incident on Palmer Square February 27 involving two men and two Borough police officers is headed for review by a Mercer County Grand Jury.

Both William J. Bauer, 33, of the Borough and Joseph K. Wright, 31, of West Windsor have been charged with simple assault and resisting arrest. Later, Mr. Bauer signed a counter charge of assault against Ptl. Steve Riccitelo and Mr. Wright did the same against Ptl. Vincent DeMartino.

On March 18th, all the charges were forwarded to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office for review by a Grand Jury. Both sides have given conflicting accounts of the incident. Capt. Peter Hanley said this week that an internal investigation by himself and Chief Thomas Michaud is continuing.

The day after the fracas, Mr. Bauer had to have his spleen removed at Princeton Medical Center. Mr. Wright has also been charged with driving while intoxicated, consumption of alcohol in a motor vehicle and refusing to take a breath test.

"We are trying to determine what was charged and if in fact the items ordered were delivered," Capt. Hanley said. He declined to reveal the names of the stores.

Last week, an intruder entered an office at the 22 Chambers Street Building and removed a wallet from a purse which a 33-year-old Titusville resident had left under her desk. The victim, who was in and out of the office, lost $260 and credit cards.

A resident of Loudonville, N.Y. reported to Borough police last week that two suitcases containing clothing valued at $500 had been stolen from inside his car while he was staying overnight at the Nassau Inn in February. Police report no forced entry into his car.

A 30-inch wood and gold-plate trophy was stolen from a box in an office at Princeton High School between 6 Friday evening and 7:15 the next morning when it was discovered to be missing by an employee. No forced entry, no suspects, say police.

A gold band ring with a sapphire in the middle surrounded by six diamond chips is missing from a bedroom jewelry box in a home in the Monroe Road area in the Township. The ring is valued at $600.

Police report the ring was discovered missing prior to the owner's going away February 25 to March 2 but the loss was not reported until the 20th. Nothing else is missing from the home.

Five Bicycles Stolen

Police report five bicycles stolen, all from the University campus.

A 16-speed Myata model valued at $600 was taken from outside Henry Hall; a $249 Schwinn mountain bike, owned by a University employee, was taken from outside Guyot Hall; a Raleigh 10-speed worth $150 was taken from in front of Patton Hall, and a 10-speed Peugeot was taken from outside Joline Hall. All four had been locked, police said.

Township police listed the overnight theft of a student's bike from the new DeNunzio pool building. The bike, a white Specialized 'Rock Hopper' is valued at $500.

Boat House Is Damaged Off the Kingston Road

The boat house off Princeton-Kingston Road was damaged last week by vandals who used a saw to cut a three-foot hole in the west wall of the building.

Township police add that a 2x4 was also used in an attempt to pry away the doorway. Lt. Anthony Gaylord said that it is not known if anything was taken.

Two cars parked in the metered lot adjacent to the Wawa Store on University Place were the target last week of vandals.

Both front directional signal lenses of a 1983 Ford owned by a Township resident were broken overnight. Between midnight and 9 in the morning, the sides of a 1991 Mazda were scraped with a sharp object. The victim is a resident of the Borough.

Basement Beam Burned In Leigh Avenue Fire

A lighted cigarette last week fell through a crack in some stairs and landed in the basement area of a home at 36 Leigh Avenue where it ignited a beam. The fire was extinguished upon arrival of the police.

Confined to the beam, the fire caused "minimal damage," police report.

WCC Seeks Matches For a Challenge Gift

Westminster Choir College has received a matching challenge gift which could result in a $750,000 donation to the College.

The gift, made by a long-time friend of the College, will match, dollar-for-dollar, all expendable gifts made to the Westminster Choir College between February 1 and June 15, 1991, up to a total of $750,000.

"We are very excited about the opportunity this gift offers to Westminster Choir College and hope it inspires the generosity of other donors," said Martha Cook Davidson, Westminster's vice president for development and external

Nobel Prize Winner To Lecture in Taplin

Norman F. Ramsey, a Nobel Prize winner, will deliver the Donald Ross Hamilton Memorial lecture on "Time and the Physical Universe" at Princeton University on Tuesday at 8 in Taplin Auditorium.

The Harvard emeritus professor was awarded a Nobel Prize in 1989 for the "separated oscillatory field" method, which is used in very precise atomic clocks, and for the invention of the hydrogen maser, which has been used for the most accurate measurements of time intervals.

Mr. Ramsey did both graduate and undergraduate work at Columbia University, where he studied under the physicist I.I. Rabi. He earned a B.A. from Cambridge University in 1937 and received the Ph.D. from Columbia in 1941. He joined the Harvard faculty in 1947.

In his wide-ranging research career, Mr. Ramsey has worked on development of radar and the atomic bomb during World War II. He was one of the founders of Brookhaven National Laboratory and Fermilab. In addition, he was the Science Adviser to NATO and initiated NATO summer schools in physics. He has chaired numerous committees assigned to review scientific aspects of controversial issues, including cold fusion and the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

He is noted for his studies of nuclear magnetism in molecules and for his application of high-precision spectroscopic methods to the study of fundamental interactions in physics, as well as for his enthusiastic teaching.

Cable TV Meeting

Members of the Princeton community are invited to an open discussion of their experiences with C-Tec (and its predecessor, Home Link) at 8 p.m. Wednesday, April 3, in the Council Room of Borough Hall. This will also be a special joint meeting of Borough Council and Township Committee on the subject.

Princeton's Joint Cable Advisory Committee is currently in the process of evaluating the C-Tec franchise, which is up for renewal next year. It must make its recommendation to the Borough and Township by October of this year.

"Collecting public comment is an important part of the committee's work," said Anne Reeves, committee chair. "There are many issues we can address, such as support for local programming, image quality, repair service, perhaps even discounts for senior citizens."

Workshops for Children Set by Friends School

Princeton Friends School will hold a series of Saturday morning workshops for children in grades one through eight. The series will start April 13 and continue on April 20 and 26 at the school, 470 Quaker Road.

One of the workshops is called "Math through Tiling," which will be taught by Richard A. Fischer, math teacher at Princeton Friends School. Tiling, or covering a surface with tiles of given shapes and sizes, is an ancient art. In 1974, Roger Penrose discovered a set of tiles that can illustrate mathematical possibilities and have led to new ideas in mathematics and crystallography. The group will be working with Penrose tiles.

This workshop is open to grades four through eight. It will meet from 10 to 11 on April 13 and 27, and the cost is $15.

Iraqi Opposition Leader To Speak on Campus

Ahmad Chalabi, an international financier who has become the leader of the Iraqi opposition to Saddam Hussein, will discuss "Iraq After the Gulf Crisis" in a lecture Monday at 7:30 in Dodds Auditorium, Robertson Hall.

Mr. Chalabi, who now lives in London, is a leading spokesman for a democratic government in post-Saddam Iraq. He is the founder and former chairman of the Petra Bank in Amman, Jordan, and earned a Ph.D. degree at M.I.T. The lecture is cosponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School, the Center of International Studies, and the International Center.

Overnight Stickers

Stickers for overnight parking in the Borough are now available at the clerk's office at Borough Hall.

The new law permitting overnight parking applies to most units that have no driveway. Some streets, including the Central Business District, are excluded.

One sticker will be issued per eligible dwelling unit. Cost is $15 per quarter.

Author, a Grad Student To Read from His Novel

Vincent DiGirolamo, a graduate student in the History Department at Princeton University, will read from his first novel, Whispers Under the Wharf: A Monterey Ghost Story, on Saturday, April 6, at 11 a.m. in Micawber Books.

Described as a novel for all ages, Whispers Under the Wharf follows the adventures of two orphans, Cosmo and Sammy Serafino, who live as wharf rats in a waterfront community of fishermen, artists and merchants. The story is set in Monterey, Calif., where the author grew up working in his family's restaurant on the wharf. He also drove a liquor truck in Monterey, and helped build the Wharf Theatre, designed by artist Bruce Ariss, the book's illustrator.

Published last summer by Fithian Press in Santa Barbara, the book is in its second printing. In Princeton, the novel has been particularly popular among fourth grade boys, according to Micawber's owner Logan Fox, whose son Sam first read the book in December and began recommending it to his friends and their parents. Because of its whimsical style and adventurous (even magical) plot, Whispers has appealed to children and adults.

Whispers Under the Wharf takes place in the mid-1950s, during Monterey's transition from a booming fishing port to a tourist town. The action begins on Columbus Day, with the salvaging of a skiff, the unveiling of a statue, and a rooftop chase that ends tragically with Cosmo's death. Sammy is devastated — until Cosmo shows up as a novice ghost seeking Sammy's help to reach the spirit world.

Mr. DeGirolamo was born in Monterey in 1955. In addition to his jobs on the wharf, he has worked as a journalist, filmmaker, and teacher. He was assistant editor for the International Longshoremen's & Warehousemen's Union newspaper, The Dispatcher, and news editor of India West, the national weekly newspaper of the Indian American community. He also co-produced "Monterey's Boat People," an award-winning documentary that aired nationally on PBS.

Kindergarten Registration For Princeton Regional

Kindergarten registration for Princeton children entering kindergarten next September is scheduled for Tuesday, April 9; Wednesday, April 10; and Thursday, April 11, from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Children should be registered at Community Park, Littlebrook, or Riverside, according to their current school attendance area. In order to register for kindergarten, a child must reach 5 years of age on or before November 30, 1991. Princeton residency must also be established.

It is not necessary for parents to bring their children to registration. They should bring, however, their child's birth certificate and medical records — particularly immunization records. Under State law, students who lack the following immunizations when school begins cannot be admitted: DPT, oral polio, measles vaccine, rubella vaccine, and mumps vaccine.

If a parent is not fluent in English, he or she is welcome to bring a friend or relative to interpret; or Spanish-speaking parents may register at Littlebrook School, where an interpreter will be available. Parents are also encouraged to inform the school personnel, during registration, of any condition which might affect the educational planning for the child.

Parents should complete the registration process on April 9, 10, or 11 in order to help school officials organize classes for next year and to schedule kindergarten screening, which will be held during May.

For further information, contact the Office of Curriculum and Instruction, Princeton Regional Schools, 25 Valley Road, Princeton 08540, 924-5621.

Research Project Seeks Infants to Participate

Babies in the Central Jersey area between the ages of 2 months and 6 months are being sought for participation in the Rutgers Early Learning Project.

The goal of the project, which is funded by the National Institute of Mental Health, is to gather data about the development of memory abilities during the first year of life.

For the study, a researcher visits the baby three or four times over a month or so for 15 to 20 minutes each. During the visits, the researcher takes note of how the infant remembers and responds to a colorful mobile.

Participating babies receive certificates of appreciation from Rutgers, and copies of the final report are sent to their parents when the project is completed.

Parents interested in participating may call Kim Boller at (201) 932-4819.

Deja Vu, 1989

Just when you thought it was safe to take your car out on the streets of Princeton, the town has begun to look a lot like the way it did in the summer of 1989. In the last week, traffic has often been slowed almost to a standstill as roadways are being torn up by such entities as New Jersey Bell, Public Service Electric & Gas, and the Borough.

The promise of smooth roads and pretty streets wasn't always enough to turn away wrath in 1989 — when not only roads, but the Nassau Street sidewalk, were in the process of reconstruction. Whether having experienced this in 1989 will ease frustration in 1991 remains to be seen.

On Tuesday, March 26, a day rich with the promise of spring, a slew of separate projects brought noise and disruption to the Central Business District area.

Jackhammers resounded on Palmer Square East as New Jersey Bell began putting in new telephone ducts.

On Moore Street, Pearson Construction began a Borough road reconstruction project, which will also include Vandeventer Avenue and Park Place. The work on Moore included the removal of curbs and sidewalks.

PSE&G was busy on Bank Street renewing gas service to the Gund Building.

At Nassau Street and Washington Road, New Jersey Bell was upgrading its underground ducts ahead of the summer repaving of Nassau Street. PSE&G is also doing work on Nassau Street.

New Jersey Bell is expected to be on Nassau Street until the end of June.

On Moore Street, between Hamilton and Spruce, New Jersey Bell was repairing damaged ducts.

'Spring Sensations' Set At PCDI for May 17-19

The Princeton Child Development Institute (PCDI), a private, nonprofit school and research center for children with autism, will hold its annual "Spring Sensations" fund-raising weekend on May 17-19. The benefit committee is co-chaired by Mrs. Robert E. Dougherty, Ms. Elly Stevens, and Mrs. Robert F. Pulleyn, founder of PCDI.

The kick-off for the weekend events will be a cocktail reception and buffet dinner party for sponsors and patrons at PCDI, Cold Soil Road, on Friday, May 17. A cried auction will follow the dinner. Items going to the highest bidder will include vacations in private homes on the Bahamas, Nantucket Island, and in New England; an autographed New York Giants Super Bowl football; works by area artists; Lenox china; antiques; and a hand-crafted Victorian dollhouse. Jennifer Zeigler and Sandy Yanklowitz are co-chairpersons of the auction.

The weekend events include a "Country House and Garden Tour," Spring Sensations boutiques, located at two of the houses; and a silent auction. Also on Saturday, a luncheon will be served at one of the houses on tour. Mrs. John Burns and Mrs. James C. Sayen, co-chairpersons of the house tours, have announced that the home of Mr. & Mrs Ralph Peters, Laogaland Farm, Stockton, and the English country garden of Mr. and Mrs. Derek Weatherill, of Princeton, will be highlights of the self-guided tour.

The boutiques will be featured at the "Wynden," a Bainbridge-Phillips House, located off Province Line Road, between Route 206 and Princeton Pike, on Saturday and Sunday. The home is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Dougherty. On hand will be more than a dozen specialty shops selling children's clothing, fine china, jewelry, rugs and lamps, stationery, and baked goods. The boutique committee is co-chaired by Mrs. Christopher Brady and Mrs. Newell B. Woodworth III.

Last year's Spring Sensations weekend raised $85,000 for the benefit of the Institute's programs for autism research and education. Further information can be obtained by call-

Festival for Health Widens Its Focus

The Holistic Health Association of the Princeton Area (HHAPA) will hold its 12th annual Festival for Health Saturday, April 13, at Stuart Country Day School. This year's theme is "Building Bridges: Our Selves, Our Lives, Our Planet."

Co-chairs Fern Alexander, Gloria Hazell and Bobbi Teich and the Festival Committee sought a festival title that would best represent the HHAPA's intention to reach beyond the parameters of individual health and include the well-being of the family, the work place and the environment. John Robbins, whose life and work as expounded in his book, Diet for a New America, embody the essence of this theme, will be the keynote speaker.

Among the more than 50 workshops that will be offered are "Building Wellness Lifestyles," a program incorporating wellness attitudes, practices and curriculum, taught by April Taylor, wellness coordinator at Frost Valley Environmental Education Center; "Challenging the Pain of ACOA," exploring the beginnings of the journey back to the inner child, taught by addictions specialist Lorraine Brennan; and "Native Perspectives on the Environment," the spiritual, social and scientific dimensions of the environmental crisis as seen from the perspective of a traditional Native American community, taught by Chief Jake Swamp, spiritual elder of the Mohawk Nation.

Other offerings include "Non-Competitive Games," taught by Cook College professor Rose Mary Bergmann; "Japanese Floral Design," taught by professional floral designer Michael J. de Rosa; and "Communicating with the World Around Us," taught by holistic veterinarian Deva Kaur Khalsa, DVM. There will also be half-hour samplers covering such disciplines as T'ai Chi Chu'an and Kundalini Yoga.

A new addition to this year's festival is a children's program, which features folktales, mask making, macrobiotic cooking and music for children ages 5 through 12. This year's festival will also feature two panel discussions for the first time. One will be on "Recovering from Addictions" with Ashley Montague, Stanton Peele and Bradly Evans, M.D., and the other on "Helping Our Ailing Planet," with Robert Williams, Chief Jake Swamp and John Seed.

HHAPA is dedicating this festival to the late Princeton Borough Mayor Barbara Boggs Sigmund and is offering a skin cancer service to all participants. There will be a Silent Auction, more than 45 exhibits by merchants, practitioners and organizations, and an international array of entertainment.

The festival begins at 8 a.m. and continues until 6. Adult fees are $45 for HHAPA members and $50 for nonmembers and includes lunch. Other price packages are available. The deadline for mailing registration is Friday, April 5, after which there will be a $5 late registration fee. A complete festival brochure, containing program and registration information is available by calling HHAPA at 924-8580.

Children of High Achievers

The Princeton High School PTO is sponsoring a talk by Andree Aelion Brooks on "Raising Self-Sufficient and Confident Children in an Achievement-Oriented Community" at 7:30 on Wednesday, March 27, in the high school's Davis Conference Room.

Ms. Brooks, a writer on family issues and columnist for the New York Times, is the author of the book, Children of Fast Track Parents.

Areas of concern include, building love, choosing schools, motivation, adolescents, becoming derailed, learning disabilities, and college.

Ms. Brooks' book addresses such questions as: What do we know about the children of high-achievers? Should we stop to analyze the impact of affluence upon a growing child as fully as we analyze the issues of poverty? What effect does a parent's own success have upon that child's behavior and personality development?

Wawa Autistic Employee Marks Ten Years on Job

Ten years ago Eden Institute and Wawa Food Markets joined together to give adults with autism job training and employment through Eden's W.E.R.C.s (Work, Education and Resource Center) program.

Ariel Shiner, the first Eden WERCs participant, who began his employment at Wawa while a student at the Eden Institute, received a service award last week in honor of 10 years of continuous employment with Wawa Food Markets.

"Ari", as he is known, was the first of many autistic Wawa employees. Since 1981, many other Eden WERCs participants have received job training in Wawa stores prior to obtaining employment elsewhere.

IMPORTANT ANNIVERSARY: Ariel Shiner, left, holds the certificate he received last week for having completed 10 years as a WAWA employee. Ariel was a student at Eden Inatitute when he began, and participated in Eden's Work, Education and Resource Center (W.E.R.C.) for autistic young adults. With him are Joe Bendaa, assistant auperviaor of the University Place WAWA, who hired him, and Harry McHugh, WAWA vice president for store operations.

Wawa Assistant Supervisor, Joe Bendas, who began the association with Eden, now serves on Eden's board of directors. Mr. Bendas, who has spoken at seminars around the country on the subject of employing the handicapped, says "There is a job in every retail store that the handicapped can do. We will continue to work with others, to demonstrate bow we are successful, and how both parties benefit."

In addition to the WERCs program, Wawa supports the Eden Institute through annual fund-raising efforts which most recently enabled Eden to renovate and install an excercise/fitness room and kitchen at the Institute and a kitchen in one of the group homes operated by Eden A.C.R.E.s, a community residence experience. Eden WERCs, the Eden Institute, the Eden ACREs are all part of the Eden family of programs.

Holiday Day Camp

The YMCA will be holding Holiday Camp April 1 through April 5.

The camp is opened to all children in kindergarten through eighth grade during Easter break from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Field trips such as bowling, roller skating, and theater, cookouts, and special events are the highlights of a day of activities under the leadership of YMCA staff.

Advance registration is necessary. For more information call 497-YMCA.

Trip to Long Island Set by Historical Society

The Historical Society will sponsor a day trip to Long Island on Thursday, April 4, to relive the area's rural past.

The morning will be spent at Old Bethpage Village, located on the site of the Powell farm, bought from the Indians in 1695. It is an outdoor museum of 15 buildings, including Dutch and English farmhouses, a general store, school, and church, which were saved from demolition elsewhere on Long Island and re-assembled here. This simulated community is typical of the rural atmosphere of the pre-Civil War era. The group will see an introductory film about the museum and then stroll around the grounds with stops at some of the houses.

Lunch will be served at the Milleridge Inn in Jericho, known for good country fare. In the afternoon the group will visit Walt Whitman's birthplace. The house where Whitman was born in 1819 was built by his father, who was a carpenter, in 1810. Although Whitman was a poet of the city, memories of his birthplace and his native Long Island inspired him all his life.

The tour coordinator is Eva Schwab. The cost of the trip is $60 per person, which includes transportation, admissions, lunch, and an $8 non-refundable, tax-deductible contribution to the Historical Society. Nonmembers pay $5 extra.

For further information and reservations, call 921-6748.

Adult Swim Classes Available at YMCA

Registration begins Monday, April 8, and classes begin Saturday, April 20. Financial aid scholarships are available for all programs and memberships.

For more information, call 497-YMCA.

Harvard Economist Set To Speak at CND Event

John Kenneth Galbraith, Harvard professor of economics emeritus and a leading social commentator, will be the keynote speaker for the tenth annual membership dinner of the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament (CND) on Sunday evening, April 7 at Princeton Theological Seminary.

Frank von Hippel, a Princeton University physicist who is a leader in obtaining international scientific cooperation toward ending the nuclear arms race, will be the honoree and respondent. The dinner will also honor Sylvia Temmer, who has served CND in numerous capacities at the local, state, and national levels; Julius and Fern Keil, coordinators of the Clearbrook Chapter of CND; and Joanne Garver, who recently completed serving six years as CND treasurer.

Attendance at the dinner is limited to CND members and their guests, and is by reservation only. However, nonmembers can join the Coalition and make their dinner reservation by sending the annual membership ($25 individual, $40 household) in addition to the dinner fee ($25 per person; $15 limited income) to CND, 40 Witherspoon Street, Princeton 08542. The deadline for reservations is Friday.

John Kenneth Galbraith

The evening will begin with a reception at 6 in the Main Lounge of Mackay Campus Center of Princeton Theological Seminary. At 6:30 dinner will begin in the main dining hall following an ecumenical blessing by the Rev. Jean Thies, associate pastor of Cranbury Presbyterian Congregation. At 7:45 the program will begin, also in the main dining hall.

Prior to his post at Harvard, Prof. Galbraith had a distinguished career in government, including service as director of the U.S. Strategic Bombing Survey in 1945 and as ambassador to India from 1961 to 1963. He is the author of numerous books and articles that have gained him international acclaim.

Prof. von Hippel is the former president of the Federation of American Scientists. While in that post, he played a leading role in setting up a U.S.-U.S.S.R. cooperative scientific venture to demonstrate that a Comprehensive Test Ban is verifiable. He continues to play a leading role in scientific cooperation and co-edits a joint U.S.-Soviet scientific journal.

He is a sponsor of CND and has given numerous presentations to elected officials and to the public on scientific aspects of nuclear disarmament.

Volunteers Welcomed To Celebrate Earth Day

On Sunday, April 21, area residents and environmental groups will come together to celebrate Earth Day and share an afternoon of music, food, information, and fun. Sponsored by the Whole Earth Center, the celebration — to be held at Turning Basin Park — will follow a canal and lake shore clean-up which is being cosponsored by a number of community and university groups.

Exhibitors at the celebration will be available to discuss their areas of interest and expertise. Topics expected to be addressed include organic gardening and certification, water quality, energy conservation, pesticides, hazardous materials in the home, alternative energy sources, and wildlife rehabilitation. Activities for children are also planned.

"Our Earth Day celebration will provide a way for people to share their concern about the local and global environment and to learn about the many valuable and interesting environmental resources available in this area," said Whole Earth Board Member Herb Mertz.

The day's events are still in the planning stage and volunteers and ideas are welcome. For more information, call 924-7429 or stop by the Whole Earth Center at 360 Nassau Street.

Storytelling Institute At Princeton University

Adults interested in learning the art of storytelling are invited to apply to "The Magic of Storytelling," a week-long institute which will be held from August 4 through 10 at Princeton University with storyteller Susan Danoff.

The residency, which Ms. Danoff will be teaching this summer for the fifth time, is designed for adults who love stories and would like to learn to tell them or wish to hone their skills. Teachers, librarians, parents, grandparents, professional storytellers, and novice storytellers are all welcome.

Some people imagine that learning a story is akin to memorizing the words. Instead students will explore the emotional, verbal, kinesthetic, visual, and auditory dimensions a story offers. All participants will learn a story they select and tell it at the end of the week. Students will write, dance, improvise, and draw as they explore the dimensions of the stories. Guest artists including dancer Joy Vrooman Sayen will also help participants to tap their creativity in unusual ways.

Ms. Danoff began exploring the art of storytelling in 1980. Since then she has developed an extensive repertoire of international folktales and has performed in schools, libraries, and museums. She has produced two audio cassettes, "Enchantments" and "The Invisible Way: Stories of Wisdom." She also teaches English composition at Princeton University.

Tuition for the residency is $250 plus $126 for room and $130 for meals. For information write Susan Danoff, P.O. Box 7311, Princeton 08543-7311 or call 882-2879.

Collins Executive Quits

Doris Parker-Grossman, who joined Collins Development Corporation 4½ months ago as executive vice president and chief operations officer of Palmer Square, has resigned.

She served as asset manager for Palmer Square, overseeing the operations of the entire Square, including the Nassau Inn. Friday was her last day.

Ms. Parker-Grossman left to rejoin her husband in Chicago, said Jessica Blais, spokeswoman for Palmer Square.

Ms. Blais said a replacement for Ms. Parker-Grossman has not been determined. "I have not heard from Connecticut (headquarters of the Collins Corporation) as to whether Doris will be replaced. We can assume so, but I just don't know at this point."

Ms. Parker-Grossman formerly handled a $1 billion hotel portfolio for VMS Realty Co., Chicago. She was also responsible for the development of a downtown Chicago mixed-use project with hotel and commercial space.

Trash Troopers Appalled at 'Disgusting Habits'

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Every other Sunday my husband Bill and I pick up trash and debris on The Great Road between Ridgeview and Cherry Valley roads. We usually fill up at least three bags with everything ranging from beer and soda cans to fast food containers etc.

I guess out here people are not afraid to litter to their hearts content because there is hardly anyone who would interfere with their disgusting habits. I often wonder what their houses or apartments must look like. Bill and I also have appointed ourselves to the official Trash Troopers on Heather Lane. We care so much because this is our neighbourhood and we like to see it clean.

Last Sunday we walked the entire length of Drakes Corner Road. To our great dismay this lovely road with its very expensive houses seems to have attracted the biggest litter bugs of all time. We could only wonder why the people who live there do not keep this quiet wonderful street clean. I suppose that they probably never walk there, or wait for someone else to pick up the horrible trash. We only had one bag with us and we filled that up in five minutes.

With this letter I am challenging every Princeton resident to take charge of their area and surrounding streets or road. This could be a meaningful project for schoolchildren, individuals or family.

Oh, what a clean town we could have! We recommend that people make this effort because satisfaction is guaranteed.

Questions Are Answered On Library Expansion

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is an open letter to the Citizens of the Princetons:

As reported in this paper on March 13, the Trustees of the Princeton Public Library voted unanimously to recommend to the Princeton Township Committee and the Princeton Borough Council that they appropriate $55,000 to hire an architect to prepare schematic drawings and more detailed cost estimates for a phased expansion of the Library at its current location on Witherspoon Street.

We are hopeful that Committee and Council will meet in joint session in April to affirm the Trustees' finding that this phased expansion program provides a good long-term solution for the Library (to be executed as funds are available) and to appropriate the $55,000 required to prepare the plans and cost estimates.

Several of you have posed questions that I shall try to answer.

1. Why a phased expansion?

It is imperative that the Library expand as soon as possible. Without some expansion, Library services inevitably will decline. However, we recognize that both Princetons are facing fiscal constraints and it is unrealistic to expect them to make a capital commitment to library construction of approximately $10 million (less whatever can be raised privately) in the next few years. A more modest request for only the first phase of a longer-range plan would be more likely to receive a favorable hearing from the governing bodies.

2. What would be included in the first phase?

Briefly, we anticipate that the first phase will include building a shell that will extend the current two-story library up Witherspoon Street towards the shop formerly occupied by Kopp's Cycles, and will add a third floor to the entire structure.

The exterior of the building will be complete and will look as we expect it to look for the next quarter-century. The shell will enclose 66,000 square feet, the amount recommended by the Citizens Advisory Committee. However, until a future phase, the current library space will be renovated only to the extent required by current building codes. The third floor will be unfinished and vacant until a future phase. The only "new" library space will be the first two floors of the addition. At the end of the first phase, the library would have about 45,000 total square feet, as compared to 26,000 in the current facility.

3. Why did the Trustees reject the "Epstein's Option"?

We did not recommend acquiring Epstein's and fully renovating it for the reasons cited in (1) above. Since the funds for a full building program at the Princeton Shopping Center do not appear to be available now, we looked at ways to use only part of Epstein's. Unfortunately, the building does not lend itself to cost-effective phasing.

A logical first phase would have to include a complete replacement of the building's operating systems, and a substantial reworking of the roof and exterior walls as well as the cost of finishing one floor. (Finishing the other floor would constitute "Phase Two.") As a result, "Phase One" would bear most of the cost of renovating the entire building and gain the Library only 6,000 square feet. (Each floor is approximately 32,000 square feet.)

4. How much will the phased program at the current location cost?

To develop an accurate cost estimate, we need the plans that we would commission with the $55,000 we have requested from the municipalities. The plans will outline the most cost-effective and efficient phasing program, and attach a cost to each phase.

5. How much money can be raised from the private sector?

We won't know until we conduct a fund-raising feasibility study. One of the essential tools of that study will be the plans and cost estimates for which we have requested funding from the governing bodies. Without a tangible construction project to show prospective donors, it is virtually impossible to obtain an accurate assessment of potential private giving. Once we have raised funds to complete the initial phase, we are hopeful that the vacant third floor and the unrenovated existing library will offer attractive opportunities for future giving.

6. Why not just add a third floor to the existing building and spare the parking spoces?

As Trustees, we are responsible for framing and providing for the Library's long-term needs. A third floor would add only enough space to accommodate the Library's current programming with no allowance for future expansion. Within five years, we would be back to the municipalities requesting more space and all the issues we are now addressing would have to be revisited.

Even more importantly, this option would force us to close the Library for several months during construction. We could not support a plan that would deprive our citizens, especially the children, of a library for any extended period of time.

7. What are you going to do about the Library's parking problem?

Alas, we — the Library Board of Trustees — do not control parking in the Central Business District so there is very little we can do, other than raise our concerns as Borough Council works on a long-range plan for CBD parking. We are confident that, in the course of their deliberations about how to resolve the Library's pressing needs, Borough Council and Township Committee will address the parking issue as well as financing, land acquisition, and other matters of mutual interest.

In closing, please allow me to thank, on behalf of the Princeton Public Library Board of Trustees, the entire Citizens Advisory Committee that prepared extensive recommendations for the Library which we are in the course of adopting; my immediate predecessor, Susan Valentine Annich, who guided the Board so ably; Harry Levine and Gordon Griffin Jr., who have volunteered many, many hours to assisting us in the analysis of options available to us; both governing bodies who have spent considerable time reviewing the Library's needs; the municipal employees who have provided valuable information to assist us in our deliberations; the extraordinarily fine Library staff under the direction of Jacquelyn Thresher; and, of course, the public citizens who have offered constructive and valuable suggestions.

Right Person Spots Her Purse

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I want the entire town to know of my good fortune!

A man named Chuck Harding, a much beloved member of the Sewer Department of the Borough of Princeton, spotted my purse on the top of my car where I had carelessly left it. As I turned the corner at 206 and Elm road he tried to signal me the problem. When I didn't react, he went back, retrieved it and took it to Police Headquarters.

I arrived home, realized it was gone, and was distraught realizing license, registration, credit card and cash were in it. As I walked in the door, the phone rang and it was Borough Hall telling me the right person had found my possessions.

One more fine happening in our great town.

Princeton School Budget Is "Out of Control"

To the Editor of Town Topics:

My wife and I have recently leased a house for one year in Princeton Township. Our landlords wrote in the lease that the monthly fee would be increased by the amount of the school tax increase and Township operating budget. Hence, the current big boost in school taxes is, to coin a phrase, "very personal," as it must be to all taxpayers who did not get any raise this year. We are in marketing and sales drops mean pay drops.

Our income is modest but we went to a CPA because the taxes are too complex and we took only the elementary course in accounting. Our gray-haired CPA made a statement that really shook us up. He said, "Princeton residents will get hit with a double whammy in 1991 and in future years because your school budget is out of control." He also stated that the Princeton School tax rate has been "upped by 'double digits' for more years than I can count."

Our CPA then proved his point with the Relocation Quarterly Winter 1990 issue. It shows that Princeton Regional School's average score on the S.A.T. math test was 586 vs. the 585 for West Windsor/Plainsboro. The math scores are, for all practical purposes identical. However, Princeton taxpayers pay far more per pupil as shown below:

School District	Cost Per Pupil
Princeton Regional	$7,893
W. Windsor/ Plainsboro	$5,499
Difference	$2,394

The potential saving of $2,394 multiplied by Princeton's 2,237 pupils equals $5,355,378!

Princeton taxpayers deserve a real tax cut, not the $250,000 peanut items the School Board has talked about in the recent parent meetings. As the CPA said, "Princeton's first whammy is the $5,355,378 you pay more for the same end results."

Princeton taxpayers' second whammy is the N.J. State income tax. Anyone who earns about $75,000 from all sources will pay the new "Florio Tax" of 7.5% in 1991. Thus Princeton's taxpayers will:

1. Pay additional taxes based on the fact that Princeton school spending is about double the New Jersey school board's average on a per pupil basis. And more if the school spending rises in the new budget!

2. Lower income taxpayers will be brought into the tax net as each year passes. Let's learn from history: back in 1913, the U.S. Income tax only applied to people earning $1 million or more. Today, even young children must file and pay an income tax.

Princeton taxpayers have to get organized before the New Jersey Education Association and the Princeton unions put the pressure on the Princeton School Board and their buddies in the N.J. Legislature.

Incest, Trauma Groups At Trinity Counseling

Trinity Counseling Service is forming three groups to help adult survivors deal with incest and other traumas.

The first group will be for women who were victims of incest as children and will be led by Christine Ritter, a social worker who is a diplomate in the National Association of Social Workers.

The second and third groups will be for women and men respectively who suffer from post-traumatic stress syndrome — the result of having lived through the psychological terror caused by directly experiencing any catastrophic event.

The second and third groups will be led by Melissa Bailey, herself a trauma survivor, knowledgeable in post-traumatic therapy.

These experiences affect people in predictable ways. Group therapy has been seen as an effective way to help individuals talk about and work through their feelings in a normalizing atmosphere.

These groups will run for approximately 10 weeks. A participant could then opt to continue or stop at that point. The groups hope to start in April.

For more information, call Trinity Counseling Service at 924-0060.

Robert Hary, director of West Windsor Township's Health Department, will be the featured speaker at the West Windsor Retirees Group meeting in the West Windsor library on Monday at 10 a.m..

He will talk about the inspection of restaurants, the beginning of licensing of cats, and other health-related subjects.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Princeton Engine Company No. 1 will hold its annual rummage sale on Friday and Saturday, April 5 and 6.

Clothing, housewares and collectibles will be among the items available for purchase. Food and refreshments will be offered.

Sale hours will be 4 to 8, Friday, and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., Saturday. Princeton Engine Company No. 1 is located on Chestnut Street.

CH.A.D.D. of central New Jersey, an information and support group for parents of children with attention deficit disorders, will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday, at the Montgomery United Methodist Church, Sunset Road. Newcomers are asked to come at 7 for an introduction to the group.

Mary Beth Charters, a learning disability specialist, will be the guest speaker.

For more information or directions, call (908) 874-3124.

The Mercer County Stroke Club will meet Wednesday, April 3, at 11 a.m. in the lounge of the Unitarian Church.

William Marrone, director of education at St. Lawrence Rehabilitation Center, will speak on "Humor and Life: The Gift of Laughter."

The Woman's Club of Princeton will hold a cabaret at Stuart Country Day School on Sunday, April 7, from 5:30 until 9 p.m. Wine and cheese will be served at 5:30, with a buffet at 6:30.

The evening will benefit several area charities, including Womanspace; the Rescue Squads of Princeton, West Windsor and Plainsboro; and the Alzeheimer Day Care Center.

Entertainment will be provided by Fred Miller and Susan Whitenach performing "A Valentine to Broadway and Hollywood."

The cost is $30.00 per person. For reservations and more information, call Evelyn Smith at 275-5195.

The New Jersey Communications, Advertising and Marketing Association will welcome George Gallup Jr. to its luncheon seminar on April 9.

In a presentation entitled "New Findings in Global Marketing," he will discuss the changing global market and its effect on Eastern Europe, China, Russia, and those living on the fringes of society.

Mr. Gallup is chairman of The George H. Gallup International Institute, co-chairman of The Gallup Organization, and executive director of the Princeton Religion Research Center.

The luncheon will be held at the Hyatt Regency-Princeton. Doors will open at 11:30 to encourage networking, with the luncheon seminar commencing at noon.

The cost of the luncheon is $20 for members and $30 for nonmembers. For reservations, which are required, or for more information, call 908-788-6007.

Financial Women International will hold its annual associates' night on Tuesday, April 16, at Scanticon-Princeton.

Lunch Box Theatre For the Younger Set

Creative Theatre will perform two of its audience participation plays during the school holiday as part of its Lunch Box series. The plays will be performed at 11 a.m. in the Loft Theatre at the Arts Council building on Witherspoon Street and the audience is encouraged to bring a box lunch to eat with the performers after the performance.

The Bremen Town Musicians, recommended for ages 4-10, will open the series on Wednesday, April 3. A new play by Joseph Robinette called Teaneck to Tuckahoe and Timbuctoo, featuring tall tales of New Jersey for ages 8-12, will play on Thursday, April 4. Both plays involve the audience as participants in the performance.

Bremen Town Musicians is adapted from the Brothers Grimm by Jean Prall with music and lyrics by Rita Asch. It is the story of a dog, a cat, a donkey and a rooster who have grown old and are no longer of any use to their masters. This difficulty causes the quartet to embark on an adventure in which they meet robbers whom they must outwit and recover what has been stolen.

Teaneck to Tuckahoe and Timbuctoo tells of New Jersey's settlers in 10 tall tales of giant chickens, whopper fish and the supernatural, using giant puppets, masks and folk music. Both productions are designed by Spiritree, a New Jersey performance, mime, mask and puppet troupe who orignated in Rome, Italy.

The shows will be performed by members of Creative Theatre's acting company, David Lightfoot, Kimberly Mehok, Diane Mostello and Peter Vanderburgh.

For further information call 924-3489.

Lorca's 'Blood Wedding' At the Acting Studio

The Princeton University Program in Theater and Dance will present Federico Garcia Lorca's Blood Wedding on April 4 through 7 and 11 through 13 in the Acting Studio at 185 Nassau Street. Performances are at 8 p.m., except for a matinee on Sunday, April 7 at 2 p.m.

Blood Wedding, said to be Lorca's greatest play, first premiered in Madrid in 1933. Set in an Andalusian village, it tells the story of an arranged marriage between two peasant families which goes awry when the bride's true love appears on the eve of the wedding. Lorca transformed this plot, taken from a newspaper account of a real event, into a highly poetic and symbolic theater piece which expresses the clash between the individual who follows his instincts and the conventions and traditions which inhibit him.

A homosexual writer forced to act covertly or face societal victimization, Lorca was keenly aware of this conflict. His personal experience led to a dark vision of life wherein human beings are inextricably linked to the natural world and to Nature's inevitable rhythms, both destructive and creative. When we do not follow our natural impulses — in Blood Wedding, the impulse of romantic love — we affront Nature, interrupting her powerful rhythm and wreaking havoc on ourselves and our carefully constructed society.

This production features 17 students and is directed by Jorge Cacheiro, a guest artist whose recent work includes

MUSIC

Two Quartets to Play On University Series

Princeton University Concerts will present the Cassatt and Colorado String Quartets together on Thursday, April 11, at 8 at Richardson Auditorium. The program will include works of Mozart and Mendelssohn.

The Cassatt Quartet has won first prize at the Fischoff and the Coleman National Chamber Music competitions, was awarded the first Tanglewood Chamber Music Fellowship, and won a top prize at the 1989 Banff International String Quartet Competition.

The members of the Cassatt Quartet — Laura Goldberg and Muneko Otani, violins; Michiko Oshima, viola; and Anna Cholakian, violoncello — are in residence at the Caramoor Center for Music and Arts in Westchester, N.Y., as well as the Worcester Performing Arts School in Worcester, Mass.

The Colorado Quartet made history in 1983 by winning, within a ten-day period, two of the highest honors in chamber music: the Naumburg Chamber Music Award and first prize at the Banff International String Quartet Competition. The Colorado Quartet is comprised of Julie Rosenfeld and Deborah Redding, violins; Francesca Martin, viola; and Diane Chaplin, violoncello.

Last year, the Quartet performed its first complete Beethoven cycle and toured Europe. Appearances in recent years have included performances in the "Quartets Plus" series at Carnegie Hall, the "Great Performers" series at Lincoln Center, the Casals Festival in Puerto Rico, and annual performances at the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam.

The program begins with Mozart's two "Viola" Quintets, in C Major, K.515, and G Minor, K.516. Each Quartet will be supplemented by the violist of the other. The program will conclude with Mendelssohn's Octet for Strings in E-flat Major, Opus 20, rarely performed because of the forces required.

———

Although the Chamber Masterworks Series is sold out by subscription, tickets returned by subscribers for resale may be available several days before the performance through the Richardson Auditorium box office. A limited number of obstructed-view tickets priced at $9 will be available on the day of the performance only.

For information call 258-5000.

Piano Trio from Cornell To Perform in Taplin

Princeton University Concerts will present a Piano Trio from Cornell University in a program of works of Mozart and Beethoven performed on 18th-century instruments.

This concert, the third in the University Concerts' "Artists in Recital Series," will take place on Monday at Taplin Auditorium in Fine Hall on the Princeton University campus. The trio, comprised of Elizabeth Field, violin; Laura Kramer, violoncello; and Andrew Willis, fortepiano; will play three works of the standard chamber music repertory performed as they might have been during the composers' lifetimes.

The program will open with two works of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart: the Trio in G Major, K.496 and the Sonata for Violin in B-Flat, K.378. The program will conclude with Ludwig van Beethoven's Trio in E-flat Major, Opus 1, No. 1.

Tickets, all unreserved, are priced at $10; students, $2; and may be obtained at the Richardson Auditorium Box Office, 258-5000, or at Taplin Auditorium beginning at 7 p.m. on Monday.

After intermission, Ms. Tao will perform the Variations serieuses of Felix Mendelssohn. The program concludes with two Russian works: the Sarcasms of Sergei Prokofiev and Vers la flamme of Alexander Scriabin.

Ms. Tao holds a bachelor's degree from the New England Conservatory of Music, where she studied with Leonard Shure. She continued her studies at the State University of New York at Stony Brook, and completed her master's and doctoral degrees with Gilbert Kalish.

Original Jazz Music By Pianist, Quintet

The Arts Council will sponsor a concert of original jazz music by Princeton composer and pianist Jeff Presslaff and his Quintet Saturday, April 13, at 8. The band has been performing since last November, and the concert will mark the release of its first album, Collective Unconsciousness.

Mr. Presslaff has been playing, teaching and composing in the Princeton area since 1988. He has won several honors for composition, including the Isidore and Helen Sacks Prize from Princeton University and an individual fellowship from the New Jersey Council on the Arts.

He has performed with Benny Carter, Bill Barron, Ed Blackwell and Roswell Rudd, as well as with South Indian flutist T. Viswanathan, and composer/vocalist Julie Kabat. Mr. Presslaff has written and recorded music for small and large jazz ensembles, electronic media and theater.

The quintet also features Cornelius Bumpus, saxophone; Pat Wristen, trumpet and flugelhorn player; Wilbo Wright, acoustic and electric bass; and Ferdi Serim, drummer.

Admission is $8 ($5 for students). For advance reservations call the Arts Council at 924-8777.

Violin Soloist Scheduled For Concert with NJSO

Violinist Nigel Kennedy will join Hugh Wolff and the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra for a concert Saturday, April 6, at 8, at the War Memorial Theatre in Trenton.

The program will feature Elgar's Violin Concerto in B Minor and Beethoven's Symphony No. 3 in E-flat Major, the Eroica. Mr. Kennedy has worked with conductors such as Vladimir Ashkenazy, Antal Dorati, Sir Neville Marriner, and Andre Previn, among others. In addition to touring the U.S. with the Vienna Chamber Philharmonic last season, he appeared with the orchestras of Baltimore, Minnesota, San Diego, Hartford and Sacramento.

Tickets to the concert are available at $10 to $33. Student and senior rush tickets at half price can be purchased one-half hour before the concert, subject to availability. For tickets and information call the NJSO box office at (201) 624-8203 or toll free at 1-800-ALLEGRO.

University Chapel Choir Plans Mozart Program

The Princeton University Chapel Choir, conducted by Prof. Walter Nollner, will present its annual Milbank Memorial concert on Sunday, April 7, at 2 in the Princeton University Chapel. Admission is free and the public welcome.

The concert will be devoted exclusively to works by Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, continuing the choir's year-long observation of the Mozart bicentennial. The program will open with the Mass in C major, sometimes called the Spauer-Messe or Piccolomini for its brevity. Scored for mixed chorus, a solo quartet of voices, strings without viola, small organ, bassoon, two trumpets and timpani, it barely lasts 13 minutes.

The program will continue with two sonatas for organ and strings, one in D major and one in F major. The concert will end with the Vesperae de Dominica, written for the same combination as the mass that opened the concert.

WANT EXTRA INCOME? A temporary or part-time job may be the answer. Read the Help Wanted ads in this issue of TOWN TOPICS for a varied selection of opportunities open to you.

IN CONCERT: The piano playing and compositions of Jeff Presslaff will be featured at a jazz concert Saturday, April 13, at 8 at the Arts Council building.

In This Year of Mozart, Chamber Symphony Links Wolfgang, His Father, and a 19th-Century Follower

Mozart, his father and his legacy were linked on Sunday afternoon in Richardson Auditorium as the Chamber Symphony of Princeton presented a program featuring music of Wolfgang and Leopold Mozart, as well as 19th-century composer Max Reger. Music Director Mark Laycock introduced to his audience two unusual instruments, and reacquainted Princeton with the artistry of Robert Taub, featured as piano soloist.

Conductor Laycock centered the first half of the performance around Max Reger's Variations & Fugue on a Theme by Mozart, which is constructed from the opening theme to Mozart's Piano Sonata in A Major. Reger's eight variations and concluding fugue present a 19th-20th century approach to 18th-century music. Mr. Laycock highlighted well the subtleties and differences among these movements, ranging from a lush Hollywoodish style, to a dark and haunting contrast, to the disjunct thematic material of the closing Fugue.

The changing tempi were well handled, and Mr. Laycock did an admirable job of keeping the ensemble together, especially in those rare instances when a specific section threatened to run away with the tempo.

To be commended for especially fine performance in this work were the solo winds, most notably flutist Jayne Rosenfeld, oboist David Schneider, clarinetist Paul Cardenuto, and bassoonist Roe Goodman.

Unique Instrumentation

The most unique piece on the program was Leopold Mozart's Sinfonia in D (The Peasant Wedding) which featured two musical instruments reminiscent of medieval times: the hurdy-gurdy and the bagpipe, played by Karen Meyers and Edwin George, respectively. Both artists introduced and explained their instruments to the audience, increasing the enjoyment of listening for the Eastern-quality tones and musical effects. The music of the orchestral background was light and frothy, characteristic of Leopold Mozart, with such unusual sound effects as voices providing typically peasant sounds. Also featured in this performance was the celebrated pistol shot artist, Timothy Limmer.

Wolfgang Mozart's Concerto for Piano No. 25 in C Major formed the focal point of the second half of the concert, featuring pianist Robert Taub as soloist. This three-movement concerto has a majestic flavor, with great opportunity for Mr. Taub to demonstrate flourishing runs and scales up and down the keyboard. Mr. Laycock held the orchestra and piano together well, at one point choosing to conduct without a baton in the second movement Andante in order to emphasize the Romantic flair of the music. Mr. Taub kept the music moving ahead, and as can be expected from a long-term relationship such as that which exists between this pianist and orchestra, the communication among soloist, ensemble and podium was solid.

The Chamber Symphony of Princeton will end its Mozart-oriented season on April 21, with a performance in Richardson Auditorium featuring music of both Wolfgang and Leopold Mozart. Throughout this season, Mr. Laycock has chosen within the framework of "Mozart" to introduce his audience to new and unusual works, as well as artists, and to reacquaint Princeton with some of the familiar masterpieces of the Mozart family.

Ticket information about the April 21 concert may be obtained by calling the Chamber Symphony at 497-0020.

The recorder ensemble will perform canzone by Andrea Gabrieli and Girolamo Frescobaldi. Viol music from Giacomo Gastoldi's lighthearted Balletti (1596) will conclude the program.

Lower Your Heating Bills by 20% — or More

"We saved over $500 last year with a new Weil-McLain gas boiler."

"Our old Boiler was costing us plenty. It wasted fuel and broke down. We replaced it with a new, energy-efficient Weil-McLain CGM gas boiler, and saved 20% or more on our heating bills — this winter alone."

While most older boilers operate at 60% efficiency or less, a new CGM — with pilotless ignition and an automatic vent damper — operates at 81% efficiency. A new CGM uses less gas to keep your home warm and comfortable, all winter long.

The CGM is made of cast iron for longest life. And it's built and backed by Weil-McLain — America's leading boiler manufacturer for over 100 years.

IT'S NEW To Us

New Doubleday Shop Opens at Palmer Square

"I want to build a client base of people who come to us for any book in print. I want customers to come in and be called by name, and I want them to be comfortable that this is a community book store and not be put off by the fact that it's a chain. We have the resources of a chain, but the atmosphere of a small cozy shop. This is one of the nicest Doubleday stores."

Devra Polen, manager of Doubleday Book Shop, which just opened at 69 Palmer Square West, is enthusiastic about the store's potential in the Princeton location. "We have already had a lot of walk-in customers. It's a cross section of people, including some university students, and a lot of mothers with children. We have an excellent children's book section, and they have been very popular. There is an incredible selection of Easter books, including Beatrix Potter boxed sets and lots of others. The old favorite Pat The Bunny is here, and The Velveteen Rabbit, and many more. They are all wonderfully illustrated.

"We also have a variety of Passover books," she continues. "Happy Passover, Rosie and The Four Questions are very popular, and we also have a selection of books on Judaism for adults."

The attractive shop is nicely designed, with books conveniently arranged and organized. The usual categories — from cookbooks, collectibles and computer books to philosophy, psychology and photography — are available, as well as a section, "For the Writer," with an assortment of reference books, such as The Handbook of Good English and The Elements of Style.

Complete Range

"I was an English major in college and a want-to-be writer," smiles Ms. Polen, who has worked in the book business for five years, including a stint as an independent buyer. "We try to have books for everyone's tastes and needs. We have a complete range — a really good selection of everything. We also specialize in travel books, and we have a vast number of choices. Also, we're not going to concentrate just on best sellers. We have expanded all our other sections, including our fiction."

BRIMMING WITH BOOKS: "There is a misconception among some that we carry only Doubleday books. That isn't true. We carry all books — a complete selection of hardcover and paperbacks." Manager Devra Polen and assistant manager Stacy Emerick look forward to acquainting customers with the extensive variety of books at the new Doubleday shop at 69 Palmer Square, which opened February 28.

Books on decorating have been especially big sellers, she reports, as have mysteries and the self-improvement and "how to" books. "People feel we have a very good mystery section," says Ms. Polen, "and we also do very well with the self-improvement, recovery and "how to improve the quality of life" books. In fact, one of our most popular books has been Meditations for Women Who Do Too Much. This is a serious book, with a thought or quote for each day."

In addition, the very small pocket-sized books, such as The Literary Cat and Quotable Women are favorites. "Some of these are what I call the 'simple pleasures' books, with a thought or quote for the day, etc. They are popular for gift-giving or just for carrying in your pocket or handbag."

Books at the shop range from $3.95 up to $150, and a typical hardcover is $21. Gift certificates in all denominations, as well as gift wrapping and UPS shipping, are available.

"Our customer service is far superior to other stores," notes Ms. Polen. "We have a better title selection, and we will fill all special requests. We have more to offer, and with our access to other Doubleday stores, we can provide customers with a very wide choice. Also, we are planning a Grand Opening special promotion later in the spring."

An avid reader herself ("I just can't read them as fast as they are published"), Ms. Polen enjoys the challenges of her work. "I like the retail book business because it is constantly changing. The nature of the business is very current. The work is a lot more challenging than some other things, and there is something new each day."

Doubleday is open Monday through Saturday 10 to 6, Thursday and Friday until 8:30, and Sunday 12 to 5.

EASTER FAVORITES: Two fabric Easter Rabbits, made by Betty Cooper, head of the fabric department at Sealfons, are on display at the store. Dressed in outfits of 100% cotton, the rabbits illustrate the continuing importance of the fabric department, which offers an extensive selection of natural fiber wearable fabrics, as well as quilting fabric.

Fabrics Alive and Well at Sealfons

"There is a persistent rumor going around that we are phasing out the fabric department. We are asked this all the time, and the answer is No! It simply isn't true."

Betty Cooper, head of Sealfon's fabric department, is adamant about the strength and security of the department, which has long been a favorite of many customers. In fact, she notes, not only is the department intact, it has even been expanded.

"We have increased the selection of quilt-making fabric," she explains. "We carry good quality 100% cotton fabric, and we also have what quilters call 'fat quarters', an 18-inch by 22-inch piece which is especially good for applique and patchwork. We want people to know we have this. The next nearest quilt shop is in Allentown, Pa."

The department also offers a large selection of natural fiber wearable fabrics, including cotton, linen and silk. Sealfons is the only store in central New Jersey to carry Liberty fabrics.

"We try to choose fabrics that are different," notes Mrs. Cooper. "We have things you don't find everywhere else, such as the Hoffman prints from California."

In addition, the department is known for its extensive selection of ribbon, including new novelty ribbon, as well as for all the notions — buttons, snaps, needles, pins, scissors, etc.

"We also have a very big selection of thread, and we are adding new colors," reports Ms. Cooper. "We have a lot of trim, too."

To underscore the vigor of the department, Sealfons schedules intermittent quilt and sewing presentations in which Ms. Cooper demonstrates techniques. A quilting demonstration is planned for May.

Also she says, "A lot of people who work here are sewing more themselves. Even our own employees are learning to sew now. You can be sure the fabric department is here to stay!"

It's New to Us

We also take passport photos and prepare international driving permits."

Indeed, it's one-stop travel shopping, notes Ms. Grassi. "If you come in for our travel services, when you leave here, it is with a complete package. The total package can cost less because of our discounts with the car rentals. In addition, there is the convenience of being able to get everything in one place. It saves time, and time is money."

Along with these travel services, AAA also offers insurance, including travel, accident, automobile and home owners, both to AAA members and nonmembers, with competitive prices on policies, reports Ms. Grassi.

Of course, it is the emergency road service for which AAA is best known, and motorists have been relying on the auto club's assistance since it was founded in 1902. There are seven AAA personal service offices in central New Jersey, and 1000 throughout the U.S. and Canada. "We have 345,000 members in central New Jersey," says Ms. Grassi, "and there has been a steady growth in membership. Our members really stay with us. There is a big renewal rate."

Famous for Service

The 24-hour-a-day, 365-days-a-year service is an important reason, she believes. "When an emergency happens, the last thing you need is to worry about what to do. You know you can count on AAA. We have 16,000 garages nationwide, and an 800 number you can call wherever you are. We will get to you as quickly as we can. This has built our reputation and success."

The $35 annual Master Membership entitles members to roadside service, including changing tires, jumping batteries, and towing, if necessary. In addition, free trip routing and maps (Triptiks) are available, as well as a bi-monthy newspaper, Spotlight, which contains tips on automobile safety and maintenance, members' comments and general information.

Recently, AAA has offered a new membership, Plus, which — for an additional $23 — guarantees towing up to 100 miles free of charge, as well as a $100 reimbursement for parts and labor for retrieval of keys locked in the car, and two free gallons of gas in an emergency.

"In recent years, people's lifestyles have changed," comments Ms. Grassi. "Cars are being used more, both for business and personally. The Plus Membership is attractive to these drivers.

"Also," she adds, "one of the things about AAA is that it offers very personal service and broad protection. It protects you as an individual. For example, if you are a passenger, and the driver is not a member, you are still covered for an emergency. It's all personalized to you. Anytime you need the service, it is available to you."

Ms. Grassi also notes that AAA is very active in both highway and pedestrian safety. "We help to educate the public, and we work closely with schools. All school street crossing guards are sponsored by AAA nationwide."

A Warm Welcome

Mr. Schwartz, who had been district manager of AAA's Marlboro office before opening the Montgomery-Princeton Area office, also stresses the importance of serving each person individually. "When we help people with the route maps, the customers can sit down with one of our agents, and the trip is mapped out according to their plans. We have already had a lot of customers coming in, even from as far away as Somerville. They say they are very happy we opened here, and they seem very pleased with us. We've had a warm welcome, and I want to thank everyone.

"I especially enjoy having so much going on in one office," he continues. "The auto club, travel agency, the insurance, and the travelers checks — it's all here!"

Adds Ms. Grassi, "We open each office with the intent to service members better, and the closer we are to members, the better it will be. This was an area that needed the kind of personal service that AAA offers. Our new office is conveniently located, and we are fully staffed. They are well trained, enthusiastic, and capable of handling any service that AAA can provide. We want to do all we can to help our members, and also we are always looking to improve!"

The Montgomery-Princeton Area office is open Monday through Friday 9 to 5 and Wednesday until 7:30.

ART

Medieval Manuscripts On View at Art Museum

An exhibition of Western European medieval manuscript illuminations has opened at The Princeton University Art Museum. On view is a selection of richly ornamented musical notations and religious documents. "Manuscript Illuminations from the Permanent Collection" has been mounted to coincide with the annual meeting of the Medieval Academy of America, to be held on the Princeton University campus from April 11 to April 13. The exhibition will remain on view through April 28.

"Manuscript Illuminations from the Permanent Collection" was organized by Adelaide Bennett Hagens, research art historian, Department of Art and Archaeology, and reader in the Index of Christian Art. Primarily religious in nature, the exhibition of 60 single leaves and cuttings includes pages from a variety of medieval manuscripts including Bibles, books of hours, psalters, and books of canon law. The assembled manuscripts have never before been displayed as a group.

The exhibition is especially rich in Italian choral manuscripts, thought to be among the finest in this country. There are also leaves and cuttings from manuscripts made in France, Germany, and England dating from the early 13th through the late 16th centuries.

Also on view is a companion exhibition, "The Word Illuminated: Western Medieval Manuscripts at Princeton," in the Rare Books gallery at Firestone Library. "The Word Illuminated" includes seven of the museum's bound manuscripts as well as manuscripts from other Princeton University holdings.

"LETTER O," a manuacript from 12th century Britain, is included in an exhibition of Weatern European medieval manuacript illuminations at the Princeton University Art Museum.

Area Artist to Speak On the Role of Line

Princeton sculptor and painter Eleanor Burnette will use contemporary paintings to illustrate the significance of line in the development of a work of art in a gallery talk on Friday, April 5, in the contemporary gallery of The Princeton University Art Museum. The half-hour program, which is free and open to the public, will be repeated on Sunday at 3.

In "Essential Line: An Artist's Perspective," Ms. Burnette will refer to the work of Lewis Morris and that of Princeton alumnus Frank Stella to demonstrate the versatility of line as an artistic device.

The focus of the talk will be four paintings by Stella that span 16 years: Luncheon on the Grass (1958), Kingsbury Run (1960), Felsztyn I (1984), and Lo Sciocco Senza Paura (1984). Ms. Burnette describes the series as especially telling, noting that they chart the artist's progression in the use of line: "In one of the early works the artist used line as form. In a later painting, line became more important. It was repeated, modulated, and mirrored in the contours of the canvas to push the image beyond what we ordinarily see."

Fund-Raiser for TAWA At Mercer County College

The Trenton Artists Workshop Association (TAWA) will hold a fund-raising art auction on Sunday, April 21, from 1 to 5 p.m. in the student center cafeteria at Mercer County Community College, West Windsor. The event will include both a live and a silent auction of art works and other items, refreshments, a "cash-donation" bar, and jazz music. Tickets can be purchased at the door for $15 each, or ordered in advance by calling Mary Irwin at (215) 943-1022, or Kate Hammet at 275-1090.

Works have been donated by such TAWA artists as James Colavita, Mel Leipzig, Joy Barth, Louis Draper, Jacob Landau, Tom Malloy, Bernarda Bryson Shahn, Robert Mueller, Robert Birmelin, and Charles McVicker. The theme, "Scandalous Art," will be represented in many of the art works, including those which are "scandalous" artistically or politically.

In addition to art works, the silent auction will include creative services offered by TAWA members, such as lessons in art techniques, a portrait sketch or photo, and gourmet dinners. Goods and services donated by area businesses will also be available.

Mercer County Art Show Calls for Submissions

The Gallery at Mercer County Community College is accepting submissions for the annual Mercer County Artists exhibition to be held from May 17 through June 29. Entries are due on Friday, April 12, or Saturday, April 13. There is a $6 entry fee per piece.

Any artist 18 years or older who currently lives, works or attends school within Mercer County is encouraged to enter up to two works. At least $1,000 in purchase and merit prize money is available. Works winning purchase prizes become part of the Mercer County Art Collection.

The exhibit has been held at the college for the past 18 years, and is jointly sponsored by the college and the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission. Jurors for this year's show are Pamela Sherin, director of the Gallery at Bristol Myers Squibb, and New Jersey artist Adolf Konrad. An illustrated exhibit brochure will be produced.

Call 586-4800, extension 581, for more information or an entry form.

Exhibits

The third, and final, spring exhibition organized by Princeton University's School of Architecture, entitled "Floating Masks," will be on view from April 8 to May 3. The exhibition will focus on the work of noted Japanese architect, urban designer and critic Hajime Yatsuka. Through photographs, models, and drawings, Mr. Yatsuka's architectural work in Japan will be explored.

The exhibition will focus on five major projects or themes in his work. These consist of the Folly 12 and 13 in Expo 90 in Osaka; large-scale landscape and urban projects such as the Ushiku Jodo Garden; urban buildings as floating signs such as the Angello Tarlazzi Building, Tokyo; the Gymnasium for Bunkyo University, Koshigaya City; and residential work such as a home in Komae City.

The exhibition is located in the exhibition gallery of the School of Architecture on the campus of Princeton University. The hours are 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. during the regular school term. The exhibition is open to the public and is free of charge. For more information, call 258-3741.

A spring exhibition of neon and contemporary art will be at The Gallery at Palmer Square from May 4 through June 22. An opening reception for the artists will be held May 4 from 1 to 5.

The show will feature the works of Rocky Pinciotti and Kari Brayman, as well as several other artists. Media will include watercolor, acrylic, monoprint, and mixed, in addition to the neon works.

For further information, call the gallery at 683-4224.

A student art exhibition will be held in the Holman Hall Art Gallery at Trenton State College through April 10.

The exhibition will display a variety of media, including photography, printmaking, painting, sculpture and computer graphics.

Paintings by Nancy Ballard Frank will be shown at The Present Day Club, 72 Stockton Street, until the end of April.

The club is open to the viewing public from 9:30 till noon weekdays.

The gallery at UJB Financial Corporate Headquarters has announced the opening of its winter show, "New Jersey Artists to Watch," featuring the works of recent graduates of the Mason Gross School of the Arts at Rutgers University.

The seven artists who have formed a group called a.r.t., meet regularly to reflect on each other's works and act as support. As painters, they represent divergent styles and subject matter.

The show, which is now open, can be seen through March 29 at the UJB Gallery, Carnegie Center, from 9 to 5 weekdays.

To appreciate what Baltimore shortstop Cal Ripken accomplished last season in big league baseball, consider this fact ... Many players have made more errors in one week than Ripken made all year — and Ripken played in every game for Baltimore last season ... Ripken made only 3 errors all year, finishing with the highest fielding average ever by a shortstop (.996) for a full season in major league history.

Tigers to Meet Rutgers In Lacrosse Saturday

Already four weeks into a short season, the Princeton lacrosse team will have the real opening of its home season this Saturday.

The Tigers did play their first home contest a couple of Tuesday afternoons ago against Lafayette, but weekday afternoon games don't bring out much of a crowd. Saturday's crowd should be huge for the 2 p.m. contest. Tickets are $3 at the gate.

Coach Bill Tierney's 5-1 team, which made Georgetown its latest victim last Saturday, 19-3, is preparing for a strong run at its first Ivy title since 1967. Saturday's contest on Finney Field (next to Palmer Stadium) against a solid Rutgers squad, will be the final tune-up before league competition begins. The Orange and Black will meet Yale in New Haven on Saturday, April 6.

Last year, Old Nassau handed Rutgers a 12-7 setback in Piscataway. So far this season the Scarlet Knights are 3-2. They are ranked 11th in the country at the moment, but have not beaten any of the top teams, losing at home to Johns Hopkins. They did defeat Michigan State last Saturday.

Last Saturday against Georgetown, Princeton virtually duplicated the 17-3 triumph it posted a year ago. This contest was in Washington, D.C., but the site made no difference.

After a slow start, which saw the Tigers leading just 2-1 after one period, they exploded for 11 goals in the second, while the Hoyas could manage just one. The tendency to start slowly is Princeton's biggest weakness at the moment, and could be a problem against a stronger team.

Not so against Georgetown. The 13-2 halftime score was expanded to 19-3 in the third period, at which time Tierney called off his dogs. There was no scoring in the fourth, the Orange and Black not looking to run up the score any further, and Georgetown almost too tired to shoot.

Once again, it was a balanced scoring effort for the winners, with 15 players participating. Justin Tortolani had another hat trick, while Chris McHugh, Greg Waller, Andy Moe and Torr Marro all tallied twice.

The strong freshman contingent continued to shine as well. Kevin Lowe had a goal and three assists; Taylor Simmers, three assists; Brian Tomeo, a goal and an assist; Peter Ramsey, one goal and Scott Reinhardt, one assist. Jim Tood, Highley Thompson and David Singer also scored.

Tierney got all four of his goalies into the game again. Starter Scott Bacigalupo had six saves before leaving at halftime. Jim Ardrey, David Shefferman and Guy Ardrey followed.

Princeton is currently ranked fourth in the latest Division

Pete Carril Honored; Craig Cason Moves On

The award will probably mean the least to the man receiving it, but for the record, Pete Carril has been voted Kodak District III Coach of the Year by the National Association of Basketball Coaches.

That makes him eligible for the Division I Kodak Coach of the year award to be announced this Sunday. Carril, never one to care much about honors, would gladly have traded this and any others for a victory over Villanova. Still, his 24-3 record this season and third consecutive Ivy title rank as impressive achievements in the eyes of his peers.

Meanwhile, on the football field, head coach Steve Tosches will lose a valuable assistant. Craig Cason, who came to Princeton as a Ron Rogerson assistant in 1985, will become the head coach at Morehouse College, a Division II institution located in Atlanta.

Cason began here as defensive line coach, coached the freshman squad in 1986, and became offensive line coach in 1987.

Tosches has already named a replacement, but his name will not be released until later this week.

1 poll, behind Virginia (6-0), North Carolina (5-0) and Loyola (4-1). Johns Hopkins (3-1) is fifth, Maryland (4-0), sixth; Brown (3-0), seventh; Cornell (4-0), eighth; Syracuse (4-0), ninth; and Towson State (1-1), tenth. Yale is 14th and Penn, 15th.

In women's lacrosse, Princeton, currently ranked ninth in the polls, is 2-1 after three games. The Tigers beat Richmond, 11-5, and James Madison, 9-6, before losing to fourth-ranked Virginia, 10-6.

Suzy Dwyer, a former standout at Lawrenceville and Princeton Day, is starting in the midfield for the Orange and Black. The sophomore had two goals in the win over James Madison.

Home Baseball Season To Open This Thursday

When the weather finally cleared in "sunny" Florida last week, the Princeton baseball team finally got to play all 11 games. The results were not a shining success.

Playing against generally tough competition, the Tigers came out on the short end of the stick in eight of the 11 games they played. Perhaps the worst statistic in the week of play was that coach Tom O'Connell's players lost six of those games in the other team's final at bat.

This Thursday, Old Nassau will be hoping for more sun and warmer weather when it meets Rider in its Clarke Field debut at 3 p.m. The next home game will be Wednesday, April 3 against Manhattan, and the EIBL competition will begin the following weekend against Yale.

Todd Taylor seems to have emerged as the top pitcher on the team in the early going. Taylor threw a complete game against a strong Missouri nine, winning 11-2. The two runs were unearned, and Taylor gave up just five hits, struck out four and walked two.

If that game was Princeton's best, its worst was a 6-5 loss to Embry Riddle, an NAIA team. The Orange and Black played a generally sloppy game, losing in the final inning.

Its two other victories came against Vermont, 14-1, and 3-2 against Illinois-Chicago. It also lost to Illinois-Chicago, 10-7 in 13 innings, Beadley, 6-5 and 6-4, Missouri, 9-8, Central Florida, 9-5 and Wright State, 6-5.

Not surprisingly the fielding left plenty to be desired, but one bright spot was the play of freshman Tim Taylor at third base. He also hit well, and appears to have nailed down the starting spot at the hot corner.

Princeton Women's Crew Defeats Mount Holyoke

In its first outing since winning the national title last June, the Princeton women's crew scored a decisive 26-second victory over Mt. Holyoke last Saturday.

Nine months after their big victory in Madison, Wisconsin, the Tigers still can't seem to get the weather to cooperate. They had to battle high winds and choppy water last June, and Saturday a day-long rain plagued the rowers.

The day also marked the debut of coach Dan Roock, a 1981 graduate of Princeton. He has taken over the coaching duties from Curtis Jordan, who moved over to coach the men.

Roock inherits five holdovers from the national champions, led by nationally honored senior stroke Katie Young. Also back are Simone Pulver, Bonnie Hargerman, Melissa Holcombe and Laura Matlack. Sheila Doppelhammer, Lynn Haaland, Suzanne Taylor and coxswain Cecile Roach graduated and have been replaced by Sophie Glenn, Laura Dalston, Fay Hanley and coxswain Sandi Chu.

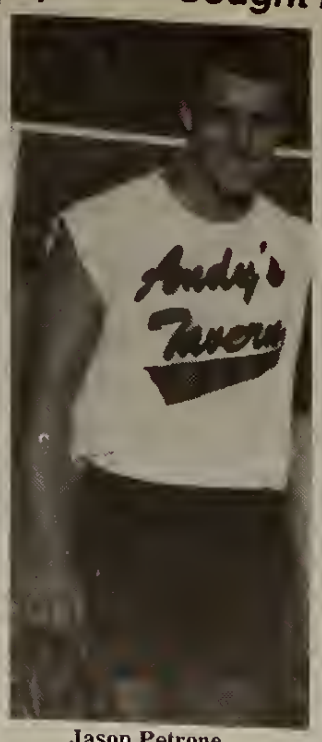
Sponsor Sought by Softball Team



Jason Petrone

Say it isn't so, Jason.

It is. Softball fans won't see this Andy's Tavern shirt on Jason Petrone this year — or on any other member of the Andy's team which has been one of the two dominant teams in the Princeton Adult Softball League the past decade. Every year for the past eight, first as Princeton Nautilus and then as Andy's Tavern, Andy's has either won the regular season league title or the playoff championship.

Jason, one of five Petrone brothers on the team, confirmed this week that the team is looking for a new sponsor this year. "We're well known," said Jason. Any sponsor, he said, would get a lot of exposure in return. Anyone interested in sponsoring the team can reach Jason at 924-4339.

LITTLE TIGER HURLERS: Senior Colin Apse (right) and sophomore Darran Horangic are two members of the Princeton High pitching staff. Coach Larry Mansier says pitching must come through if Little Tigers are to qualify for the state tournament.

Sports

In their first race together, the winning time of 7:10.4 was a lot slower than the 5:52.2 that won the nationals, but it should go lower as the season progresses. The Tigers, who were 6-0 (11-0 overall) in Ivy races last spring, will get their first league test against Brown this Saturday.

And Jordan's men's crew will kick off its season against Navy this Saturday also.

"If Things Go Right ..." PHS Nine Will Improve

Two years ago, when Larry Mansier took over as coach of the Princeton High baseball team, the Little Tigers won just one game. But it was a big one: an upset of Hun in the Mercer County Tournament.

Last year, PHS won five games. Once again, it managed to shock someone. This time it was Ewing, an 11-5 victim — again in the County Tournament. What made the win so shocking was that Ewing had walloped PHS 23-4 the week before in a regular season game.

And this year — after graduating seven seniors? "If we improve exponentially," smiled the puckish Mansier, "we'll win 25 games."

Well, maybe not that many just yet but ... "If things go right, we could qualify for the states," said Mansier. To do that, PHS would have to have won eight games by the May 10 cutoff date. Mansier, when asked if he expected to exceed last year's five wins, replied without hesitation, "Definitely!"

As is so often the case in high school ball, the fortunes of the Little Tigers will hinge on how well their pitching staff performs. "I think we'll be competitive," said Mansier. "A few breaks here and there ..."

As far as hitting goes, "It should be very good," believes Mansier. "We should be able to put up nine people who can put the ball in play. We can do a lot with the bat; we can bunt and hit" — not for power, perhaps but for baserunners. "We're a doubles and singles club," said Mansier.

One more facet of this year's team, which consists of eight seniors, three juniors and four sophomores, is speed. "We should be able to do a little bit more on the base paths," Mansier stated, "a lot of bunt and run. We have a lot of speed. Whether we're ahead or behind we're going to run a lot."

Not only are the Little Tigers fleet of foot they are, says Mansier, "pretty intelligent runners. They know how to get from first to third. And they know when to go and when not to."

The Little Tigers will open their season next Wednesday at Hopewell. Two days later they will be at McCorristin. Both games have an 11 a.m. starting time during the week the school will be closed for Easter vacation.

Apse Heods Mound Staff

Heading the pitching staff is senior Colin Apse who came on last year toward the end of the season to emerge as the team's top starter. Apse gained added experience by pitching for Princeton Post 218, last year's new entry into the Mercer County American Legion League.

Junior Alex Weinberg saw more limited mound service for the Little Tigers. He started in last week's scrimmage against New Brunswick where he suffered from a few control problems. Senior Dave Long, who played the outfield and first base last year — a good hitter — is being asked by Mansier to use his good arm as a pitching weapon.

Two sophomores are Darren Horangic, who played half the season for Post 218 on the mound, and Matt DeVeau, the only lefthander among the group. Neither is an overpowering hurler. Mansier commented that he is spending a lot of time this spring with his pitchers working on mechanics.

Around the Horn

There will be familiar faces at all the bases. Chris Healey, a junior, played a lot of first base last year for the Blue and White. He also played the position for the Legion team and has improved his hitting, said Mansier. "He looked good in the scrimmage."

Senior Aaron Cooper returns to second. He is another Legion player, who, says Mansier, has developed a lot and is a good

PDS to Face British In Golf This Tuesday

A Princeton Day golf team, composed of four student golfers and four adults, will play against a British team at Springdale Golf Club this Tuesday, beginning at 12:30.

The PDS squad will include four members of the golf team, Stuart Katzoff, David Maziarz, Scott Anzel and John Stitzer. Also included are Gerry Katzoff and Alan Frank Jr., parents of PDS students, Bob Lewis, the school's doctor, and Jim Litvak, who has no connection with the school, but plays a pretty good game of golf.

All PDS spring sports will get under way next week. The boys' lacrosse team will kick off its season at home Monday against Millburn High School. Scott Spence has replaced Bob Krueger as coach, and will be assisted by Tom Griffith.

Kim Bedesem's girls' lacrosse team will start Friday, April 5, playing Pingry in Martinsville.

The tennis team, coached by Rome Campbell, will have matches Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, April 4-6, against Hopewell Valley, Wardlaw-Hartridge and Pennington.

The baseball team, coached by Paul Brown, will face Princeton High on Wednesday.

Four State Records Set By 10-Year-Old Swimmer

In the process of capturing eight first-place wins at the New Jersey Junior Olympics this month at West Point Military Academy, 10-year-old Kaisa Greenberg of Whitewaters Swimming broke four state records, including her own, swam seven top-16 reportable times, and was named most valuable 10-and-under girl swimmer.

A resident of Princeton Junction, Kaisa's time of 27.74 in the 50-yard freestyle toppled the previous state record of 27.85 set in 1983. This is a top-16 reportable time, to be used in determining U.S. Swimming's national time standards next year.

Swimming the 100-yard freestyle in 59.6 seconds, Kaisa broke the 1990 record of 1:00.33. In December, 1990, Kaisa set the record of 34.67 for the 50-yard breaststroke, which she has bettered to 33.97, another top-16 time. Finally, her record time of 1:15.13 in the 100-yard breast, also top-16, broke the record of 1:15.80, set in 1987.

Kaisa's other first-place wins, all top-16 reportable, were in the 100-yard individual medley (1:08.86), 200-yard IM (2:30.6) and 200-yard free (2:11.06). She also placed second in the 100-yard backstroke, third in the 50-yard back and fourth in the 50-yard butterfly.

Kaisa's first- and second-place wins qualify her to swim these events at the Eastern Zone Age Group championship to be held in Buffalo in early April.

Athletes Are Honored At Hun Sports Banquet

Thirteen varsity athletes were honored at the 1991 winter sports banquet recently held at the Hun School of Princeton. "Most Valuable Player" awards were presented to Brendan Conlon in boys' swimming, Kyle Dori in girls' swimming, Paige Weiskittel in diving, Brian Benfield in wrestling, Patrick Tutek in ice hockey, Deon Hames in boys' basketball, and Becky Jensen in girls' basketball.

Coach's awards went to Chris Hall and Shari-Lynne Migdalof in swimming, Andy Nelson in wrestling, Ben Waterhouse in ice hockey, Mike Williams in boys' basketball and Allison Williams in girls' basketball.

fielder. At short will be either Scott Petrone, who held the position last year, or Long — when he is not on the mound. Another senior, Matt Baum, a good hitter who will bat cleanup, will anchor third.

Junior Ben Stentz will start in centerfield. He is a blue chipper. Cast in an Eddie Stanky mold, Stentz, like Stanky, is a firebrand who will beat you any way he can. "He's nice to watch," agreed Mansier. "He's always in the game where he should be. He doesn't sit on his hands."

Two sophomores will flank Stentz. Silas Massey, another Legion ball player, is slotted for left field and Matt DeVeau will be in right. "All three give me a real fast outfield." commented Mansier. Senior Jim Brophy will serve as a backup, either in the outfield or behind the plate. Two more seniors on the squad are infielder Dan Neuger and outfielder Nick Walker.

Which leaves the question, "who will be behind the plate?" "We've got a big fielding hole at catcher," acknowledged Mansier. Right now he is going with Scott Petrone behind the plate, a gamble because for the past three years Petrone has been a standout infielder. Petrone filled in on occasion last year when starting backstop Russ Levine was sidelined. Observed Mansier, "Right now, he's the best we've got."

Mansier also announced that he intends to have the versatile Petrone lead off. "He batted .300 last year plus 17 walks. Put both together and he bats about .600. That's not the kind of person I want batting number three." The top of the PHS order, Mansier indicated, would be Petrone, Stentz, Long and Baum.

Mansier will have four coaches to assist him this spring. Jason Petrone, a 1984 Princeton High graduate and one of the area's top softball players, will return for the third year as Mansier's top assistant.

Newcomer Byron Dudeck, who coaches soccer and track at West Windsor-Plainsboro High, will coach the 14-member jayvee team, ton University last fall, following the path set by older brothers Jacob and Stig. Mark broke the Tiger pattern to captain the Harvard team. All posted superb records at PHS. The eldest, Jacob, is the only Princeton High player to win the state singles championship.

"It was nice having them," agreed coach Joe Diefenbach. "They were all strong players; it was nice to always be able to win at number one. But we won before, not having them."

Diefenbach should know. He starts his 16th year as coach and over the years, Diefenbach and Princeton High have been as consistent as the Leschlys when it comes to winning. Last spring was a vintage Princeton High season. The Little Tigers lost only twice — to Moorestown in the state tournament and to Lawrenceville — in posting a 19-2 record. The team won the Valley Division in the Colonial Valley Conference, won the Mercer County Tournament and captured the NJSIAA Central Jersey Group 2 championship.

Along the way, Diefenbach gained his 300th career win and now owns a 304-47 record. His teams have averaged 19 wins every year.

As a veteran coach, Diefenbach knows that while statistics can be good for the ego and a benchmark, there are always those who want to know "what can you do for me this year?"

"I think we are a year away from really winning any titles but I think we'll improve a lot as the year goes on," predicted Diefenbach. "I think we'll be decent in Mercer County. I think we'll be competitive."

The team will open its season on Tuesday at Nottingham. It will not open at home until April 11 when it hosts Lawrence.

The starting singles players are all juniors — which is why Diefenbach feels the Blue and White may have to wait a year. The one with the most experience, who has played in the most tournaments and is slotted at number one, is George Khalaf. Khalaf was 22-2 at third singles last spring after a standout freshman season.

Number two singles is Jason Cohen. Brent Breithaupt is number three. "Brent and Jason have also improved," commented Diefenbach.

While the singles seem set, to fill in the two doubles slots Diefenbach is looking mainly at eight candidates and the result of challenge matches.

Seniors are Jeremy Zhu, Matt Mazzoni and newcomer Pratich Das. Junior candidates include Todd Dlugosz, Mike Neuberger and Felix Carl. Two sophomores vying for a starting spot are Dan Wang and Gabe Silberman. As always, waiting in the wings are a host of other young players, waiting to represent Princeton High in this tennis-minded town.

SINGULAR PERFORMERS: Starting singles players for tha Princaton High tennis team this spring are, from left, George Khalaf, first singles; Brent Breithaupt, third singles, and Jason Cohen, second singles. All are juniors.

Eastern Express Is Third At N.J. Junior Olympics

The Princeton-based Eastern Express swim team finished third overall among 40 teams that participated in the New Jersey Junior Olympic Championships this month at West Point.

Three Express swimmers won individual titles and seven earned berths on the New Jersey Eastern Zone all star team. Including two swimmers who had previously qualified for Zones, the Express placed nine swimmers on the all star squad. These swimmers will represent New Jersey in competition in Buffalo, N.Y. in early April.

Hal Wansley, a fourth-grader at Princeton Day School, qualified for the Zone team by winning the 100-yard individual medley (1:10.65) and the 50-yard backstroke (32.59) in the 10-and-under category. He placed second in the 200 IM and was also second in the 50 breast and 100 breast.

Francis Franze, a freshman at Princeton High School, captured first place in the 200-yard butterfly in the 13-14 category in a time of 2:06.05 and finished second in the 200 and 400 IM. Teammate Gordon Fraser, a PHS sophomore, won the 15-18 division of the 200 IM with a personal best time of 1:59.93.

Sarah Fraser, an eighth-grader at John Witherspoon School, joined brother Gordon on the Zone team with a second-place finish in the 13-14, 100-yard backstroke and a second in the 200 IM.

Hopewell Valley Regional's Emily Morland swam the 200-yard freestyle in 1:58.66 to finish second in the 13-14 category and earn a spot on the Zone team. Morland also placed second in the 400 IM and 100 freestyle.

400-Yard Relay Win

Princeton Day School eighth-grader Heather Payne placed third in the 200-yard backstroke to qualify for the Zone team, and third in the 100-yard backstroke. She then teamed up with Fraser, Morland and PHS freshman Gabrielle Devereux to win the 400-yard medley relay.

Rounding out the Zone qualifiers was Brett Awbrey, a seventh-grader at West Windsor-Plainsboro Middle School, who finished third in the 13-14 division of the 200-yard butterfly.

Jennifer Stores, an eighth-grader at Hopewell Valley Regional, joined Fraser, Morland and Payne to win the 400-yard freestyle relay. Stores swam to an individual fifth-place finish in the 100-yard breaststroke.

Andy Potts, an eighth-grader at John Witherspoon School, captured third place in the 500-yard freestyle in the 13-14 division. He had previously qualified for the Zone team in the 1650-yard freestyle. Tyler Potts, a fifth-grader at JWS, turned in a personal best time of 2:45.72 in the 200 IM in the 10-and-under category.

Other medalists for Express were Catherine Preston, a seventh-grader at JWS, who swam a strong 200-yard freestyle to finish fourth among 11-12 girls; Meryl Spiewak, a freshman at West Windsor High School, whose top finish in the 13-14 division was a fifth in the 500-yard freestyle; Landon Jones, a sophomore at PHS and previous Zone qualifier in distance freestyle events, who placed eighth in the 500-yard freestyle in the 13-14 category; and Naomi Dunson, a fifth-grader at Princeton Day School, who grabbed eighth place in the 100-yard butterfly event among 10-and-under girls.

Neil Rudenstine

York. After 20 years teaching English and serving in various administrative posts at Princeton, he left the University in 1988 to join former Princeton President William G. Bowen at the Mellon Foundation where Dr. Bowen was named president.

At the time Dr. Rudenstine could have become a candidate for presidency of Princeton, or he could have remained as provost. Dr. Bowen said at the time that he would have "led the cheering" if Dr. Rudenstine, who served as provost for nine of the 15 years of the Bowen administration, had shown "a glimmer of interest" in either being president of Princeton or continuing as provost.

Instead, Dr. Rudenstine chose to continue what had become an extraordinarily close association between the two men by taking the number two spot, also vacant, at the Mellon Foundation. He said at the time, "Like the president, I think institutions and individuals need new challenges, new people, new stimulation."

During his tenure here, he was credited with having steered Princeton through the transition to co-education, major expansions, budget difficulties, the turbulence of the late '60s and early '70s, and the development of the residential colleges.

Dr. Rudenstine, 56, a native of Danbury, Conn., who graduated from the Wooster School, is a 1956 summa cum laude graduate of Princeton where he was enrolled in a special humanities program. He received a Rhodes Scholarship and spent three years studying at Oxford University where he earned a bachelor of arts degree with first class honors in English literature in 1959.

Following a tour of duty as an Army lieutenant at Fort Sill, Okla, he began graduate study at Harvard in English and received his Ph.D. in 1964. After four years on the Harvard faculty, he came to Princeton in 1968 as dean of students and associate professor of English.

Named Dean in 1972

He became dean of the college in 1972 and was named provost five years later. He was promoted to full professor in 1973. His special field of academic interest was Renaissance literature. As provost he had particular responsibility for overall academic development and for coordination among various activities, departments and programs.

He also had direct oversight of the University's planning process and the development of the annual budget, as well as direct supervision of the University's library system, its computing resources, its physical facilities, the Plasma Physics Laboratory and the Art Museum. He was also the University's affirmative action officer.

Speaking from Cambridge on Sunday night, Dr. Rudenstine called Harvard "a very strong, formidable and powerful institution with many, many parts." He said his first job would be to learn about it, "and that won't be easy." Princeton is much smaller and has a single faculty instead of several. It also does not have graduate schools of medicine, law or business, as Harvard has.

Dr. Rudenstine listed as his top concerns in his new job rising tuition, scarce resources for higher education, and the difficulty of bringing diversity to the student body and faculty.

Borough Council

draft ordinance written by Councilman David Goldfarb.

This would call for persons walking dogs to pick up after the animals and then deposit the closed bag or other container in a trash receptacle.

"I have received a number of telephone calls from people who feel very strongly we should have such an ordinance," said Mr. Goldfarb. "It addresses the concerns of members of Council who didn't want a lot of staff time devoted to the ordinance."

Councilwoman Lucy Mackenzie said she, too, had received many calls in favor of a scooper law. She said the topic was a source of great agitation, and that she supported the ordinance.

Mr. Goldfarb's proposed ordinance would be enforced by the health officer. Any individual could file a written complaint with the health officer alleging a violation of the provisions of the law.

During earlier discussions, several Council members stated that many communities have found that once such an ordinance is placed on the books, it becomes essentially self-enforcing.

Parking Meter Loss

In other business, Mayor Reed reported on the results of a meeting with merchants at the east end of Nassau Street. He said they were very concerned by the State Department of Transportation's (DOT) request that the Borough remove seven meters on the south side of Nassau Street.

This would be done during the Nassau Street repaving scheduled for this summer. The DOT wants the meters taken out because of the high number of accidents involving parked cars in the stretch of Nassau Street from Olden to Maple.

The merchants want the Borough and DOT to look at the question of whether the roadway itself could be widened, either by constructing inset parking on the north side of Nassau Street or by widening the curb three feet on each side.

Mayor Reed said it was suggested during the merchants' meeting that only right turns be allowed when emerging from the Davidson's/WaWa parking lot.

The Mayor will attempt to set up a meeting among Borough officials, east end merchants, and the DOT to discuss these matters sometime next month.

School Board

1991-92 school budget by $1.7 million in order to fit within the 7.5 percent cap mandated by the State. There is some cushion in the number of teacher cuts because some ten teachers are expected to retire this year.

• What the balance will be between cuts in the academic area and in the extracurricular and athletics area.

• Whether there is an improved way to handle child study services to provide a high quality of service along with some reduction in personnel. This was one of the key issues to emerge from the recent series of community meetings on the school budget.

The proposed $29.7 million budget was expected to be adopted Tuesday night in a preliminary, bottom-line format. Budget hearings on April 9 and 11, and budget adoption on April 16, will complete the lengthy and complicated process.

With $1.7 million needing to be cut, the administration has recommended that $300,000 be eliminated from the elementary schools, $300,000 from John Witherspoon Middle School, $459,000 from Princeton High School, and $737,386 from all programs centered at Valley Road. These include administrative, administrative support, operations, and maintenance budgets.

Given the need to cut budgets, combined with expanding enrollment, there is expected to be an increase in class size. The size, however, should not go beyond the district's guideline of a maximum of 25 in grades kindergarten through three, and 30 in grades four through 12.

District enrollment in 1990-91 is 2,499, up 7.3 percent from last year. An enrollment of 2,620 is projected for 1991-92, a 4.8 percent increase.

The 1991 Borough school tax is estimated at $1.74 per $100 of assessed valuation, a 9.4 percent increase from last year's figure of $1.59. The estimated Township rate of $1.87 is 8.7 percent higher than last year's $1.72 rate.

Commenting on the need to cut teachers' positions, and the Board's request that the teachers' union reopen negotiations, School Board President Joel Cooper said, "There is a certain amount of money in teachers' salaries. If the contract is enforced next year, at 9.5 percent, there will be significantly fewer teachers than this year. If they would like to bring the salary increase to the cost of living (about 5½ percent), a significant number of teaching positions will be saved. It doesn't save the Board money. The question is, how many teachers will go?"

Contract negotiations are currently under way between the School Board and the Princeton Regional Administrators' Association. According to Board Member Corinne Kyle, who is heading the negotiating team, both sides are working towards a settlement before the public has to vote on the budget, on April 30.

Separate contract negotiations are under way with Superintendent of Schools Carol B. Choye, who currently earns $97,794. Ms. Kyle is hopeful that these negotiations will also be completed and announced before April 30.

Forrestal Village Object of Takeover by Bank

Three-and-a-half years after its opening, troubled Princeton Forrestal Village was taken over last week by the Bank of New York.

The Village, built by Connecticut developer Scott Toombs with a $140 million construction loan from the bank, is now assessed by Plainsboro Township at $33.4 million.

Dozens of shops have opened and closed in the past three years, and about half of the 90 stores are now empty. Rental of office space, however, has been more successful. The space is now 70 percent occupied.

The Bank of New York hired the Sammis Co. of Parsippany in late January to take over the Village's marketing and management.

Mark Yeager, Sammis vice president, said radical changes in the Village were unlikely, and dismissed rumors that existing retail space would be converted to office use.

"We believe there's a tremendous amount of untapped potential here," he said. "There is a concept that can be created that will ensure its success."

Mr. Toombs had signed an agreement in the spring giving control of the Village to the bank. The agreement was part of a larger deal to restructure the original $140 million construction loan, according to Mr. Yeager.

Mr. Toombs, who said the bank paid him a "significant" sum of cash for his 70-percent share of the Village, also said he retains the right to buy back the project if he can match, within 60 days, any offer made by a third party to purchase it.

According to Mr. Toombs, the bank has told him it intends to sell the Village, and that the Sammis Co. was hired solely "to package it for sale."

Evolving Work Force Is Topic of Seminar

A seminar, "Managing an Evolving Work Force in Uncertain Times," will be held April 9 at the Hyatt Regency-Princeton. It will address "rightsizing"; health-care cost containment; the changing employee-employer relationship; and innovative pay programs.

Featured speaker will be State Labor Commissioner Raymond L. Bramucci. Sponsors are the law firm of Hannoch Weisman, TPF&C, and Drake Beam Morin, Inc. Registration is required.

For information, call Lynn Catanzaro at (201) 535-5431.

Addictions Recovery Practice Opened Here

Brennan and Lawrence Associates, a psychotherapy practice, has opened an office at 231 Nassau Street. This Flemington-based partnership began three years ago, primarily to help people recovering from addictions and codependency. The partners are Lorraine Brennan and Bunni Lawrence.

One of the purposes in expanding their office to Princeton is to initiate a training program for therapists who want to specialize in addictions-related group work. They are also planning to host an educational series for the public, offering films and discussions on recovery from addictions and codependency.

Ms. Brennan, prior to forming the partnership, was director of the employee assistance program at St. Frances Medical Center in Trenton, and taught in the hospital's nursing school for three years.

Ms. Lawrence is a resident of West Windsor. Before forming the joint practice, she was a psychotherapist in the psychology department at St. Frances Medical Center.

Your Rights as a Renter

The following information has been prepared by the Rent Registration Board of the Borough of Princeton.

Do You Rent An Apartment or House in The Borough?

Did you know that if your landlord supplies heat to your rental, the law says that — from October 1st to May 1st — if the outside temperature falls below 55 degrees, the temperature in your apartment should be at least 68 degrees from 6 a.m. to 11 p.m. and 65 degrees from 11 p.m. and 6 a.m.?

If you are a tenant having a problem with heat, call the Health Department at 497-7613.

If you are having other problems with your rental, and live in Princeton Borough, call Linda Feldstein at 924-3118, Tuesdays and Thursdays. She is coordinator of the Rent Registration Board appointed by Mayor and Council to see that rental housing in the borough is in good condition and to mediate disputes between tenants and landlords.

It consists of two tenant representatives, two landlord representatives, and two homeowners in the borough who are neither landlords nor tenants, and a coordinator.

IF WOMEN PAID THIS MUCH ATTENTION TO THEIR BREASTS, THOUSANDS OF LIVES COULD BE SAVED.

This year 44,300 women are expected to die of breast cancer. That's more deaths than the combined total from the first seven years of the AIDS epidemic. And things are getting worse. Ten years ago, breast cancer struck down 1 out of 13 women. Today it strikes 1 out of 9.

Yet, despite the grim statistics, breast cancer doesn't have to be such a devastating killer. With monthly breast self-examinations, annual doctor's check-ups, and mammography, breast cancer can be detected early. And when detected early, breast cancer is curable in 90% of women.

Learning about breast cancer may frighten you... but not learning about breast cancer should frighten you even more.
